

White Oak Landscape Approaches Five Decades of Professional Landscape Maintenance Services in Atlanta

October 27, 2025

MARIETTA, GA - October 27, 2025 -
White Oak Landscape, a cornerstone of Atlanta's landscaping industry, marks nearly five decades of providing professional landscape maintenance services to residential and commercial properties throughout the greater Atlanta area. The milestone represents thousands of properties maintained and relationships built across Georgia's capital region since the company's founding.

As the White Oak Landscape company approaches its 50th anniversary, the organization reflects on its evolution from a small local operation to one of Atlanta's established landscape service providers. The company has witnessed and adapted to significant changes in landscaping practices, environmental regulations, and client expectations over the past five decades.

"Reaching nearly 50 years in business means we've maintained some properties for multiple generations of the same families," said Rocky DeVotie, President of White Oak Landscape. "We've seen children grow up in yards we maintain, then later serve those same children when they become homeowners themselves. That continuity and trust defines what White Oak Landscape maintenance represents in our community."

The company's longevity in the Atlanta market stems from its consistent focus on quality service delivery and adaptation to changing industry standards. Over the decades, White Oak Landscape has expanded its service offerings to meet evolving client needs while maintaining its core commitment to professional landscape maintenance. The organization has incorporated sustainable practices, modern equipment, and updated techniques while preserving the personalized service approach that characterized its early years.

Atlanta's rapid growth and development over the past five decades have presented both opportunities and challenges for established service providers. White Oak Landscape has navigated multiple economic cycles, drought conditions, and shifting regulatory requirements while maintaining continuous operations. The company's experience spans from maintaining properties in Atlanta's historic neighborhoods to servicing newly developed commercial complexes throughout the metropolitan area.

"Our nearly 50 years of experience means we understand Atlanta's unique climate challenges, soil conditions, and the specific needs of both native and adapted plant species in this region," noted DeVotie. "Every season brings different requirements, and our decades of local experience help us anticipate and address those needs proactively for our clients."

The approaching milestone also highlights the company's contribution to the local economy through long-term employment and partnerships with regional suppliers. Many team members have been with the organization for decades, bringing extensive knowledge and established client relationships to their daily work.

White Oak Landscape continues to serve residential neighborhoods, commercial properties, and community spaces throughout the Atlanta metropolitan area. The company provides comprehensive landscape maintenance services including lawn care, seasonal plantings, irrigation management, and general grounds maintenance. As the organization approaches its golden anniversary, it maintains its focus on delivering consistent, professional landscape services while building on nearly five decades of industry experience and community presence in the Atlanta region.
