

Five Star Jewelers Sponsors Gold Buying Event in Partnership with Zonta International and Core Community Services

October 23, 2025

MIAMI, FL - October 23, 2025 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Five Star Jewelers has sponsored a gold buying event in collaboration with Zonta International and Core Community Services Inc. The event, held on September 30, 2025, aimed to engage the community in sustainable practices related to jewelry recycling and purchasing. This initiative reflects the company's ongoing commitment to ethical sourcing and community involvement in the Miami area.

The gold buying event provided participants with opportunities to sell unwanted gold items, contributing to material recycling that supports the creation of new jewelry pieces. Five Star Jewelers, known for its selection of fine jewelry, including engagement rings in Miami, FL, emphasized how such events promote environmental responsibility by reusing precious metals. Attendees learned about the value of their items through professional appraisals, aligning with the company's services in valuation and purchasing.

Founded over 35 years ago by Jorge Carvajal, Five Star Jewelers started as a small family operation where the founder sold jewelry door-to-door. The business has since expanded to six locations across the Greater Miami region: Hialeah, West Flagler, Westchester, West Kendall, Country Walk, Kendall, and Homestead.

These stores offer a range of products, from classic gold pieces to contemporary designs featuring lab-grown diamonds.

Lab-grown diamonds represent a key part of the company's inventory, providing alternatives that match natural diamonds in quality while addressing ethical and environmental concerns. These stones are incorporated into various items, such as solitaire engagement rings, halo designs, and wedding bands. The process of creating lab-grown diamonds replicates natural formation, resulting in gems suitable for heirloom-quality pieces.

In addition to product offerings, Five Star Jewelers provides comprehensive services to support customers. Custom jewelry design allows clients to collaborate with experts in crafting personalized items. Repair services ensure the maintenance of bracelets, earrings, chains, and other pieces. Professional appraisals offer accurate valuations for insurance or resale purposes. Financing options, including partnerships with Affirm and Acima, enable flexible payments without requiring credit checks. Pawn services provide immediate financial solutions based on item worth.

The sponsorship of the gold buying event builds on the company's history of community engagement. Five Star Jewelers maintains a philanthropic department that supports various causes. Initiatives include volunteer efforts with Habitat for Humanity, fundraising for St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, and contributions to clean water projects. The Mr. Dupree Business Scholarship assists young entrepreneurs in pursuing their goals, demonstrating the organization's investment in local development.

Employee programs at Five Star Jewelers foster a positive work environment. Benefits include massage therapy, chiropractic care, nutrition consultations, and gym memberships. These perks contribute to team well-being, which in turn enhances customer service. The company employs over 80 professionals, emphasizing innovation, data-driven decisions, and career advancement opportunities.

Jorge Carvajal, founder and president of Five Star Jewelers, stated, "Sponsoring this gold buying event allows us to connect with the community while promoting sustainable practices that benefit the jewelry industry."

The event also highlighted partnerships with Zonta International, an organization focused on empowering women, and Core Community Services Inc., which supports local initiatives. Such collaborations underscore Five Star Jewelers' role in fostering community ties.

Customers can browse collections online through the company's website, viewing options before visiting stores. This approach accommodates diverse preferences, from preliminary research to in-person consultations.

Five Star Jewelers traces its roots to Cuban heritage, valuing the cultural significance of gold and fine jewelry. The company has grown while maintaining principles of authentic quality, ethically sourced gems, exclusive designs, and customer satisfaction. By sponsoring events like the recent gold buying initiative, Five Star Jewelers continues to integrate community service with its business operations.

Jorge Carvajal added, "Our commitment to the Miami community drives us to support events that encourage responsible recycling and ethical choices in jewelry selection."
