Mixon Tax Law, PLLC Launches New Website to Enhance Client Access to Tax Attorney Services

November 12, 2025

HOUSTON, TX - November 12, 2025 -
Mixon Tax Law, PLLC has launched a new website designed to provide enhanced accessibility and streamlined navigation for businesses and individuals seeking tax attorney services. The Houston-based tax law firm partnered with ASTOUNDZ to develop the digital platform, which features improved functionality and comprehensive information about the firm's specialized tax resolution services.

The new website represents a significant upgrade in how the firm connects with clients facing complex tax challenges, from IRS collection matters to international tax compliance issues. The platform incorporates user-friendly navigation and detailed service information to help visitors understand their options when dealing with tax controversies.

"The new website reflects our commitment to making sophisticated tax solutions more accessible to those who need them," said Phillip Mixon, founding attorney at Mixon Tax Law. "When clients face IRS audits, wage garnishments, or complex international tax matters, they need immediate access to clear information and professional guidance. This platform delivers both while maintaining the personal attention that defines our practice."

The website development project, completed through collaboration with digital marketing services provider ASTOUNDZ, focused on creating an intuitive interface that allows visitors to quickly identify relevant services and connect with the firm. The platform features detailed information about the firm's core practice areas, including IRS collection matters, tax audits and appeals, business and employment tax matters, and international tax compliance.

Mixon Tax Law specializes in strategic legal intervention for tax controversies that threaten business operations and personal financial stability. The firm's approach combines the dual expertise of Phillip Mixon, who holds qualifications as both an attorney and Certified Public Accountant, providing clients with comprehensive representation in federal tax matters.

The new digital platform includes expanded resources for understanding tax resolution options, from offers in compromise and installment agreements to representation in Tax Court proceedings. Visitors can access information about halting wage garnishments, managing IRS audits, addressing payroll tax disputes, and navigating Foreign Bank Account Report obligations.

The website also features a frequently asked questions section addressing common concerns about tax attorney representation, case timelines, and the distinction between tax attorneys and traditional accounting services. This educational component helps potential clients understand when legal intervention becomes necessary in tax matters.

Mixon Tax Law, PLLC provides strategic tax resolution services for businesses and individuals throughout Houston and beyond. The firm handles IRS collection matters, federal tax audits and appeals, business and employment tax controversies, and international tax compliance issues. Led by Phillip Mixon, who combines attorney and CPA credentials, the firm delivers sophisticated tax strategies with direct attorney access, ensuring clients receive personalized attention for their tax challenges. The practice focuses on complex tax matters requiring legal intervention, from halting collection actions to negotiating favorable audit outcomes and structuring transactions for regulatory compliance.
