USA Cabinet Store Announces Planning Resources for 2026 Kitchen Remodel Projects

November 06, 2025

Hendersonville, TN - November 06, 2025 -
USA Cabinet Store, a provider of kitchen and bathroom remodeling services across Nashville and Middle Tennessee, announces the availability of planning resources and consultation services for homeowners preparing for kitchen remodel in 2026. The announcement comes as mortgage rates reach their lowest point in over a year and Nashville homeowners increasingly choose renovation over relocation.

Recent market data reveals that October 2025 marked a significant shift in borrowing conditions, with 30-year fixed mortgage rates dropping to 6.25 percent, the lowest level in more than twelve months according to Freddie Mac data. This development, combined with Nashville's median home price reaching between $460,000 and $597,000 depending on county, has created conditions where kitchen renovation represents a financially viable option compared to purchasing a new property.

The financial dynamics favor renovation in the current Nashville market. Purchasing a median-priced home at $500,000 with a 6.25 percent mortgage requires approximately $100,000 for a down payment plus $10,000 to $15,000 in closing costs and moving expenses, resulting in monthly payments of approximately $2,462 for principal and interest alone. In contrast, based on regional contractor estimates, kitchen remodel projects in the Nashville area typically cost between $25,000 and $50,000 and may qualify for promotional financing options including zero percent interest for qualified buyers through participating contractors, subject to credit approval and specific terms.

"We're seeing Nashville homeowners who postponed their kitchen remodel in 2026 planning stages finally move forward now that rate conditions have improved," says Emin Halac, CEO of USA Cabinet Store. "The combination of lower refinancing rates, accessible financing, and the realization that moving costs 10-20 times more than renovating has created favorable conditions for homeowners ready to transform their spaces. Popular requests include custom green cabinetry, quartz or quartzite countertops, and smart storage solutions?projects that typically range from $25,000 to $45,000 for a full kitchen transformation."

National trends support this local movement, with Harvard's Joint Center for Housing Studies projecting remodeling expenditures will reach $524 billion by early 2026. Recent surveys indicate that 48 to 51 percent of homeowners plan to renovate in 2025, with kitchens and bathrooms as priorities. Notably, 91 percent of homeowners report they are not planning to sell their homes in 2025, choosing instead to improve their existing properties.

Nashville homeowners are embracing specific design trends that reflect both national movements and regional preferences. Industry reporting shows 76 percent of designers nationally favor green cabinetry as the color choice for 2025, while Nashville-specific trends emphasize mixed metal finishes, smart appliance integration, and open-concept layouts that extend into outdoor entertaining spaces, particularly suited to Tennessee's temperate climate.

For homeowners planning a kitchen renovation, USA Cabinet Store offers 3D design consultations that enable visualization of renovations before commitment. The company provides remodeling services including custom cabinetry, countertops, tiles, sinks, faucets, and hardware installation.
