

Amundson Law Office LLC Launches Holiday Support Initiative for Divorced Parents Navigating Child Custody Challenges

November 13, 2025

EAGAN, MN - November 13, 2025 -
Amundson Law Office LLC, a family law firm based in Eagan, Minnesota, announces a comprehensive support initiative designed to help divorced and separated parents navigate the emotional and legal challenges of the holiday season. The campaign addresses the unique difficulties families face during this time, including custody scheduling conflicts, emotional adjustment, and the need for modified parenting arrangements.

The initiative comes as many divorced parents prepare for what can be the most challenging time of year. Research indicates that holiday periods often intensify custody disputes and emotional stress for families adjusting to new dynamics after separation or divorce. The firm's campaign provides both preventive guidance and legal support for parents who may need modifications to existing custody agreements.

"The holiday season brings unique challenges for divorced families that extend beyond typical custody concerns," said Lisa Amundson, principal attorney at Amundson Law Office LLC. "Parents often struggle with negotiating holiday schedules, especially during the first year after separation, while simultaneously managing their own emotional adjustment and protecting their children from additional stress. Our initiative provides both practical guidance and legal support when formal modifications become necessary."

The support campaign addresses several critical areas that affect divorced families during the holidays. Emotional challenges include dealing with memories of past celebrations, feelings of isolation when social gatherings emphasize family unity, and the difficulty of establishing new traditions. Practical concerns center on negotiating specific holiday schedules, determining where children spend key celebrations such as Thanksgiving dinner or Christmas morning, and managing disagreements that can escalate into legal conflicts requiring professional intervention.

As a Family Law Attorney with extensive experience in custody matters, Lisa Amundson has observed patterns in holiday-related disputes that often catch parents unprepared. The firm's proactive approach aims to help clients anticipate potential conflicts and develop strategies before tensions escalate. This includes reviewing existing custody agreements for clarity around holiday schedules and identifying situations where formal modifications may be beneficial.

The initiative also recognizes the financial implications of holiday custody arrangements. Parents may face unexpected expenses related to travel, duplicate gift-giving, or the need to establish separate holiday traditions. When these financial pressures combine with existing support obligations, some families may require adjustments to their agreements.

Amundson Law Office LLC serves the entire Twin Cities metro area, including Minneapolis, St. Paul, Burnsville, and Apple Valley. The firm specializes in all aspects of family law, including divorce, child support, spousal support, and custody modifications. Lisa Amundson holds additional certifications as a Social Early Neutral Evaluator, Financial Early Neutral Evaluator, and Rule 114 mediator.

For families facing holiday custody challenges, early intervention often prevents more serious conflicts. The firm encourages parents to seek guidance before disagreements escalate, particularly when children's well-being is at stake. As a child custody lawyer, the firm focuses on solutions that prioritize children's emotional stability while respecting both parents' rights to meaningful holiday time with their children.

Amundson Law Office LLC has served Dakota County and surrounding communities for years, building a reputation for compassionate yet effective legal representation in family law matters. The firm's approach combines legal expertise with an understanding of the emotional complexities inherent in family transitions.
