Opinion Reaction, an organization in Beverly Hills, FL, has announced that they are helping a friend's family raise money. The friend suffered a heart attack during surgery and is now fighting for his life. To help raise funds, the organization is selling tee shirts designed with him in mind.

Micheal Savoie from Opinion Reaction says: "We at Opinion Reaction choose to be heart centered. When we heard that Jerry Arnette, a good friend, had suffered a massive heart attack during a heart catheterization procedure, we immediately made a donation to the family. Jerry is currently on life support and he may never recover. Meanwhile, even with his insurance, the medical bills are starting to pile up. Hence, we have launched our For Jerry's Family line of tee shirts, proceeds of which will go towards his family to help cover the medical bills."

Through the Opinion Reaction fan page on Facebook, the organization has also explained what has happened with Jerry. While they encourage people to purchase the tee shirt, they feel it is equally important that the information is shared far and wide. They also ask people keep Jerry in their prayers. The organization hopes to raise $3,000 through their campaign and have pulled out all the stops. Each tee shirt or hoodie that people purchase are also imprinted with the hashtags #Love and #Heart to further raise awareness of the cause.

"We need to sell 200 tee shirts by March 20th to reach our goal," explains Micheal Savoie. "We know that we can do it, and people have already started to support us. The difference this is making to Jerry and his family is tremendous. It really is an opportunity for people to do something good for their fellowman and every action truly helps. If people share our campaign, use the hashtags and keep Jerry in their prayers, they are helping and we can't thank them enough."

In the last few days, Jerry Arnette has come off of life support, and is making progress. His family appreciates all the prayers and financial support from friends, coworkers and people who are hearing about Jerry's case through the Opinion Reaction campaign. Without the help of these people, the Arnette family would be buried in medical bills.

The #Love #Heart tee shirt is available for men and women alike, as well as in a hoodie version. Each of the three options is available in five different colors to enable personalization.
