

JDH Remodeling Expands High-Performance Siding Company to Protect St. Leonard, MD Homes

December 04, 2025

St Leonard, MD - December 04, 2025 -
JDH Remodeling, a Southern Maryland exterior remodeling specialist with over 40 years of experience, announces the expansion of its high-performance siding services to address increasing weather extremes affecting St Leonard area homes. The company has enhanced its siding installation capabilities with advanced materials and techniques designed to withstand coastal climate challenges.

The expansion comes as Southern Maryland communities face more frequent severe weather events, including intense storms, high winds, and temperature fluctuations that can compromise traditional exterior materials. JDH Remodeling in St Leonard, MD has responded by incorporating premium Provia siding systems and specialized installation methods that provide superior protection against moisture infiltration, wind damage, and thermal stress.

"Homeowners in St Leonard are experiencing firsthand how changing weather patterns can impact their properties," said Bill Dodson, Founding Partner of JDH Remodeling. "We have expanded our siding services specifically to address these challenges with materials and installation techniques that offer significantly better performance than standard options. Our goal is to provide homes with exterior protection that can handle whatever nature brings while maintaining aesthetic appeal for decades."

The company's expanded siding services include comprehensive exterior assessments, custom color matching, energy-efficient insulation integration, and moisture barrier systems. As a Provia Certified siding leader, JDH Remodeling combines manufacturer expertise with local knowledge of Southern Maryland's unique coastal environment. The enhanced services address common regional concerns including salt air corrosion, humidity-related expansion and contraction, and storm-driven rain infiltration.

Beyond siding, the company maintains its full range of exterior remodeling services, including roofing, windows, gutters, and door installations. Each service area incorporates materials and methods suited to the coastal climate conditions prevalent throughout Calvert County and surrounding regions. The integrated approach allows homeowners to coordinate multiple exterior improvements that work together to protect their investment.

JDH Remodeling has built its reputation through more than four decades of service to Southern Maryland communities. The fully licensed and insured company maintains a 4.9 rating based on over 1,000 customer reviews. The firm serves numerous communities throughout the region, including Deale, Crofton, Dunkirk, Waldorf, Annapolis, Hughesville, Lusby, Severna Park, Chesapeake Beach, Prince Frederick, Huntingtown, Leonardtown, Lexington Park, Mechanicsville, and California, Maryland.

The company offers detailed project estimates, flexible financing plans, and comprehensive warranties on all installations. Their team of certified installers undergoes continuous training on the latest materials and techniques to ensure each project meets current building standards and manufacturer specifications.

JDH Remodeling specializes in exterior home remodeling services throughout Southern Maryland. The company provides residential and commercial solutions, including roofing, siding, windows, gutters, and door installations, with a focus on materials and methods suited to coastal climate conditions.
