

CollaVita Collagen Announces Product Meets Strict Paleo and Keto Compliant Standards

December 04, 2025

CHANTILLY, VA - December 04, 2025 -
CollaVita Collagen has announced that its hydrolyzed collagen peptides meet the strict dietary requirements of both Paleo and Keto diet protocols, addressing the needs of the growing number of consumers following these specialized eating plans.

The company's single-ingredient formula, consisting solely of hydrolyzed Type I and III bovine collagen peptides sourced from grass-fed, pasture-raised cattle, naturally aligns with the stringent guidelines of both dietary approaches. The product contains no sugar, gluten, dairy, soy, additives, or preservatives, making it suitable for individuals adhering to these increasingly popular nutritional frameworks.

The Paleo diet, which emphasizes whole foods that would have been available to early humans, excludes grains, legumes, dairy, and processed foods. Similarly, the Keto diet requires extremely low carbohydrate intake while maintaining moderate protein consumption. Both dietary approaches have seen substantial growth in recent years, with millions of Americans incorporating these principles into their daily nutrition routines.

"Our mission at CollaVita has always been to provide the purest, most transparent collagen available," states Enes Demirel, General Manager of CollaVita Collagen. "The fact that our single-ingredient formula naturally meets the rigorous standards of both the Paleo and Keto communities is a testament to our commitment to clean sourcing and manufacturing."

The company's collagen peptides undergo hydrolyzation for optimal bioavailability and are certified through multiple quality standards, including third-party lab testing, GMP compliance, and ISO certifications 9001, 14001, and 45001. These certifications demonstrate the brand's dedication to product purity, manufacturing excellence, environmental responsibility, and workplace safety.

Consumers interested in learning more about the product's ingredient profile and dietary compliance can find additional information through the CollaVita Collagen Blog, which features detailed articles about collagen benefits, wellness tips, and recipes incorporating collagen peptides.

CollaVita Collagen also maintains Halal, Kosher, and GMO-Free certifications, ensuring the product meets diverse dietary, ethical, and lifestyle requirements beyond Paleo and Keto compliance. This comprehensive approach to certification reflects the company's commitment to serving a global audience with varying nutritional needs and preferences.

The clean ingredient profile that enables this dietary compliance stems from the company's foundational approach to product development. By maintaining a single-ingredient formula without unnecessary additives, the product naturally fits within the parameters established by both diet protocols.

The company also maintains an active presence on social media, with regular updates available through CollaVita Collagen on Instagram.
