Evola Builds LLC Expands Custom Home Builder Services Across Kitsap County

December 05, 2025

December 05, 2025 -
Evola Builds LLC, a veteran-owned construction and remodeling contractor, announces expanded service capabilities throughout Kitsap County, Washington, as the company continues to meet growing demand for custom home building and comprehensive remodeling services across the region.

The construction firm, which has been serving Kitsap County since 2021, now provides full-service custom home building alongside its established remodeling expertise to homeowners in Indianola, Bremerton, Poulsbo, Silverdale, Bainbridge Island, and surrounding communities. This expansion reflects the company's commitment to addressing the evolving housing needs of local families seeking personalized living spaces.

"As Kitsap County continues to grow, we're seeing increased demand for both custom home construction and thoughtful home renovations that maximize existing properties," said Michael Evola, founder of Evola Builds LLC. "Our expanded capabilities allow us to serve homeowners at every stage, whether they're building their dream home from the ground up or transforming their current residence into something extraordinary."

The company specializes in whole home remodeling, kitchen and bathroom renovations, home additions, and accessory dwelling unit (ADU) construction. Each project emphasizes exceptional craftsmanship and personalized design solutions tailored to individual family needs. The firm's approach combines traditional building expertise with modern construction techniques to deliver functional and aesthetically pleasing living spaces.

The company maintains a comprehensive portfolio spanning bathroom projects, deck construction, exterior improvements, interior renovations, and structural framing work. This diverse experience enables the team to handle complex projects that require coordination across multiple construction disciplines.

Positive customer feedback has been instrumental in the company's growth trajectory. Evola Builds Reviews consistently highlight the firm's professionalism, quality workmanship, and effective communication throughout the construction process. These testimonials from completed projects across Kitsap County underscore the company's reputation for delivering on its promises to local homeowners.

Recent industry data indicates that home improvement and custom building projects in Washington State have increased significantly as homeowners seek to adapt their living spaces to changing lifestyle needs. ADU construction, in particular, has emerged as a popular solution for property owners looking to create additional living space for extended family members or generate rental income.

The company's veteran-owned status reflects its commitment to discipline, precision, and attention to detail in every project undertaken. Licensed under number EVOLABL797L3, Evola Builds LLC maintains affiliations with the Better Business Bureau and the Kitsap Building Association, demonstrating its dedication to industry standards and professional excellence.

About Evola Builds: The company represents a growing segment of specialized contractors addressing the unique construction and remodeling needs of Pacific Northwest communities. The company's focus on personalized service and local expertise positions it to continue serving Kitsap County families seeking to create homes that inspire lasting memories.
