Wexford, Ireland based company Somasix, has announced the launch of their new line of high quality large, safe, and durable educational magnets and numbers. These are currently available on the Amazon marketplace. Obada Yousif, spokesperson for the company, states, "Our new educational toys are much larger than traditional number and ABC magnets, and are perfect for little hands to play and learn."

The company states that the durable and easy to clean toys are made from lead and BPA free plastic, which makes them much safer for children. The 62 piece ABC magnet set includes all 26 uppercase and 26 lowercase letters as well as numbers from 0 through 9. "It's a great set for playing and for learning, and of course we back it with our 100 percent satisfaction guarantee," says Yousif.

Yousif says that the set is perfect for teaching children letters and how to read basic words, even children whose first language is not English. The educational toys are designed to teach an array of subjects from English and math to science, helping children to prepare for elementary school while still having fun.

Somasix provides a number of children educational toys, the latest having just been released on the Amazon marketplace. The number and letter set is currently available and Yousif states that the magnetic letters and numbers come in a wide range of colors, to make them fun even for toddlers and for parents who want to begin very early education with their children.

Yousif says that the company specifically designed the magnets to be larger so that children could handle them more easily, and so that they can focus on teaching children valuable lessons while still enabling them to have fun during the learning process. The company offers a number of different ways to teach children including memory games, spelling, and color matching. The larger size pieces makes them safer for children and pets because there is less risk of a choking hazard.

Those interested in learning more about the new magnetic toys can find it on the company's official website or on the Amazon marketplace.
