

Ethical Plumbing Expands Residential Plumbing Repair Services

December 03, 2025

December 03, 2025 -
Ethical Plumbing has announced the expansion of its residential repair services to address growing demand for professional plumbing solutions in the Upstate South Carolina region. The company's enhanced service offerings include comprehensive leak detection, emergency response capabilities, and specialized outdoor plumbing repairs.

The family-owned business, operating from its location at 416 Waddell Rd, has responded to increased service requests by broadening its repair capabilities. The expansion addresses common residential plumbing issues while maintaining the company's commitment to quality workmanship and professional service standards.

"We identified a significant need for reliable plumbing repair in Taylors and surrounding communities," said a company spokesperson for Ethical Plumbing. "Our expanded services reflect our commitment to meeting the evolving needs of homeowners who require professional solutions for their plumbing systems."

The enhanced service portfolio includes emergency leak repairs, which address both visible and hidden water system issues. The company has invested in advanced leak detection technology to locate problems that may not be immediately apparent to homeowners. These hidden leaks can lead to substantial water waste and property damage if left unaddressed.

Toilet repair services have been expanded to include comprehensive diagnostics and solutions for common issues such as clogs, leaks, and continuously running fixtures. The company's technicians receive ongoing training to service various toilet models and provide repair options that address both immediate problems and long-term performance.

The expansion also encompasses garbage disposal repair services, an offering that distinguishes the company from standard plumbing repair providers. Technicians trained in appliance repair work alongside plumbing specialists to diagnose and resolve disposal malfunctions, providing homeowners with consolidated service options.

Outdoor plumbing repairs represent another component of the service expansion. The company now addresses issues with septic systems, sewage lines, and main water lines that extend beyond the home's interior. This includes identifying and repairing leaks in underground pipes and managing tree root intrusion into water and waste systems.

Water heater repair services have been integrated into the company's offerings, covering both traditional tank models and tankless systems. Technicians receive manufacturer-specific training to service various makes and models, enabling the company to restore hot water service for residential customers.

The expansion includes professional drain cleaning services that utilize mechanical methods rather than chemical treatments. This approach addresses stubborn clogs while preserving pipe integrity and avoiding the corrosive effects associated with commercial drain cleaning products.

Ethical Plumbing maintains 24-hour emergency service availability, allowing homeowners to access professional plumbers in Taylors regardless of when issues arise. The company's emergency response protocol includes comprehensive problem evaluation and detailed cost estimates before repair work begins.

The business operates with licensed Master Plumbers overseeing all service work. Technicians complete extensive on-the-job training under Master Plumber supervision, ensuring consistent service quality across all repair categories.

Company representatives indicated that the service expansion reflects market demand analysis and customer feedback collected over recent months. The additions complement existing services while addressing gaps in local plumbing repair availability.

Ethical Plumbing holds an A+ rating with the Better Business Bureau and maintains active listings on professional service platforms. The company's pricing structure emphasizes transparency, with detailed cost breakdowns provided to customers before work authorization.
