December 09, 2025

MONETT, MO - December 09, 2025 -
Davis & Son, a leading HVAC and plumbing company serving Southwest Missouri for over four decades, has announced the expansion of its air conditioning services to meet growing demand from residential and commercial clients throughout the region. The expansion extends the company's service coverage to eight counties, including Barry, Lawrence, Christian, Greene, Jasper, Newton, McDonald, and Stone Counties.

The expanded service area represents a significant investment in the company's operational capacity, including the addition of advanced diagnostic equipment, enhanced emergency response protocols, and same-day consultation availability. These improvements position Davis & Son - Air conditioning repair service provider to better serve the increasing number of property owners seeking reliable cooling solutions across Southwest Missouri.

"This expansion reflects our commitment to meeting the evolving needs of Southwest Missouri residents and businesses," said Kristen, spokesperson for Davis & Son. "With summer temperatures consistently rising and cooling systems working harder than ever, we recognized the critical need to broaden our reach and enhance our service capabilities. Our expanded coverage ensures that more families and businesses can access professional air conditioning services when they need them most."

The service expansion includes upgraded preventive maintenance programs featuring comprehensive system inspections, filter replacements, and performance optimization services designed to identify potential cooling system issues before they develop into costly repairs. Commercial clients will benefit from customized service agreements tailored to their specific operational requirements, while residential customers gain access to flexible scheduling options and transparent pricing structures.

Davis & Son - Air conditioning system supplier has strengthened its position through strategic relationships with major manufacturers, enabling quick access to replacement parts and competitive warranties on new installations. These partnerships ensure that both emergency repairs and planned replacements can be completed efficiently, minimizing downtime for commercial operations and discomfort for residential customers.

The company's technical team has undergone additional training to service the latest energy-efficient cooling technologies, including smart thermostats, variable-speed systems, and environmentally friendly refrigerants. This expertise allows Davis & Son to provide informed recommendations that help customers reduce energy consumption while maintaining optimal comfort levels.

The expansion also addresses the unique challenges faced by rural communities within the expanded service area, where access to qualified HVAC technicians has historically been limited. By extending coverage to these underserved regions, Davis & Son aims to ensure that all Southwest Missouri residents have access to professional air conditioning services regardless of their location.

Davis & Son has established itself as a cornerstone of the Southwest Missouri community through four decades of reliable service.
