

Five Star Jewelers Unveils Expert Tips for Spotting Authentic Luxury Watches in Miami

December 05, 2025

MIAMI, FL - December 05, 2025 -
Five Star Jewelers has released information on identifying authentic luxury watches in Miami, FL, based on its experience in the jewelry sector. The retailer provides details on verification methods, including manufacturer-issued documents, amid increased attention to genuine timepieces in the market.

The company operates several stores in the greater Miami area, serving customers with a range of watches from brands including Rolex, Omega, Patek Philippe, Tag Heuer, Bulova, Citizen, Caravelle, and Movado. These selections cover automatic, quartz, and smartwatch options for men and women. Each piece includes a manufacturer's warranty and certificate of authenticity, which serve as verification from the brands themselves, confirming the item's legitimacy and quality.

This approach addresses concerns about counterfeit products in the industry. The certificates and warranties provide documentation of serial numbers and other markers, allowing buyers to confirm genuineness through official channels. Such measures ensure that purchases maintain value over time.

In addition to watches, the retailer deals in various jewelry items, such as pendants, charms, and necklaces.

Lab-grown diamonds are available, chosen for their characteristics in color and cut. These complement the timepiece offerings, enabling coordinated selections.

Services include buying and selling of goods, along with repairs, resizing, cleaning, and maintenance. Custom design allows for the creation of unique pieces by in-house experts. Financing options feature 0% APR terms for up to 60 months, facilitating transactions. Appraisals assist in determining item values based on condition and market factors.

The business originated as a small family-operated jeweler in Miami more than 35 years ago. It has expanded to employ over 80 staff members while retaining a family-focused structure. This setup promotes long-term customer relationships through consistent service.

Jorge Carvajal, founder and CEO of Five Star Jewelers, explained the verification process. "Manufacturer warranties and certificates of authenticity provide third-party confirmation from the brands, including details like serial numbers that buyers can check against official records," Carvajal said. "This documentation helps ensure that each watch meets established standards for craftsmanship and durability."

Staff members educate customers on the differences between watch types, such as mechanical movements in automatic models versus battery-operated quartz versions. This information aids in selecting items that align with daily needs. Smartwatches incorporate modern features like connectivity, expanding the range beyond traditional designs.

A spokesperson for Five Star Jewelers discussed seasonal trends in purchases. "During gift-giving periods, individuals often seek timepieces that hold enduring value, supported by authentic documentation from manufacturers," the spokesperson said. "The available selections cater to this demand with verified products."

Repair services cover tasks like battery changes and strap adjustments, performed by technicians to preserve functionality. Cleaning processes restore appearance without affecting components. These maintenance options extend the usability of items.

Custom work involves collaboration to incorporate specific preferences, resulting in personalized designs. Jewelers use expertise in metals and gems for these creations.

Appraisals involve assessments of rarity and trends, offering valuations for insurance or other purposes.

Financing plans accommodate different budgets, with extended terms to ease acquisitions.

Free delivery is provided within the area, ensuring secure handling of items.

The company selects gems for quality, including ethical lab-grown options that match natural stones in appearance.

Provenance is documented for each watch, tracing back to the manufacturer. This transparency supports informed decisions.

Inventory updates include new models from the listed brands as they are released, keeping options current.

Guarantees address any post-purchase issues through service teams.
