

Sasso Guerrero & Henderlite Expands Family Lawyers Services to Fernandina Beach

December 05, 2025

JACKSONVILLE, FL - December 05, 2025 -
Sasso Guerrero & Henderlite, the only law firm in Northeast Florida with three Board Certified Marital and Family Law Experts as managing partners, has expanded its presence with a new office location in Fernandina Beach, Florida. The firm's Fernandina Beach office, Sasso Guerrero & Henderlite - Fernandina Beach, FL, now serves Nassau County residents from its Amelia Island location at 911 S 8th Street, Suite G, providing comprehensive family and criminal law services to the coastal community.

The expansion represents a strategic move to bring specialized legal expertise closer to Nassau County families who previously had to travel to Jacksonville for board-certified family law representation. The new office operates Monday through Friday, offering the same comprehensive range of services available at the firm's two Jacksonville locations.

"Opening our Fernandina Beach office allows us to better serve the Nassau County community with the same level of expertise and compassionate advocacy that has distinguished our practice," said Jay Henderlite,

Managing Partner at Sasso Guerrero & Henderlite. "Many families on Amelia Island and throughout Nassau County face complex legal challenges that require board-certified expertise, and we're committed to making that expertise more accessible."

The firm's three managing partners, Molly Sasso, Christie Guerrero, and Jay Henderlite, each hold board certification in marital and family law from the Florida Bar, a distinction that places them among an elite group of practitioners in the state. This unique combination of credentials has positioned the firm as a leader in Northeast Florida's legal community since its formation through the merger of two established practices.

Fernandina Beach family lawyers at the new location handle a comprehensive range of family law matters, including divorce, child custody, child support, adoption, and assisted reproductive technology law. The firm also provides specialized services for military divorces, LGBTQ+ family matters, collaborative divorce proceedings, and modifications to existing court orders. Additionally, the practice offers criminal defense representation in cases involving domestic violence, DUI charges, drug crimes, and both felony and misdemeanor offenses.

The firm has distinguished itself through three core values: elevating the practice of family law by maintaining the highest professional standards, prioritizing client experience, and combining compassionate care with fierce advocacy. These principles extend to the firm's charitable work through Luciano's Light, an organization founded by the partners to provide free legal services to families pursuing rainbow babies after experiencing pregnancy or infant loss.

"The decision to expand to Fernandina Beach reflects our commitment to making board-certified family law expertise available throughout Northeast Florida," Henderlite added. "Nassau County families deserve access to the highest caliber of legal representation without having to travel long distances during already challenging times."

About Sasso Guerrero & Henderlite: The firm operates from three locations in Northeast Florida, including its newest Fernandina Beach office and two Jacksonville locations. As the only firm in the region with three board-certified marital and family law experts as managing partners, the practice provides comprehensive family and criminal law services with a focus on combining professional excellence with compassionate client care.
