CP McGinty Jewelers Introduces Gabriel & Co. Collection for Holiday Season

December 11, 2025

CAPE GIRARDEAU, MO - December 11, 2025 -
CP McGinty Jewelers has introduced a collection from Gabriel & Co. for the holiday season, including rings, earrings, and pendants. This addition aligns with the store's selection of jewelry for various occasions. The introduction follows social media highlights of these pieces in November 2025.

The Gabriel & Co. pieces incorporate metals and stones in designs suited to holiday events. Customers can examine these items along with other collections available at the store. The collection expands the inventory with styles that focus on detail and construction.

As a jewelry store in Cape Girardeau, MO, CP McGinty Jewelers provides curbside pickup during the holiday period. This service permits the collection of purchases outside the premises. The store holds engagement rings, custom designs, and fashion jewelry from brands including Kendra Scott and Fire Fly.

Charles McGinty, Co-Owner of CP McGinty Jewelers, addressed the introduction's timing. "The Gabriel & Co. collection coincides with preparations for holiday gatherings, with pieces that accommodate different styles and occasions," McGinty said.

Gabriel & Co. collections hold significance in the market due to their focus on handcrafted designs that emphasize emotional connections, according to industry observations. This aspect appeals to customers who select pieces that carry personal meaning during festive times. The pieces often have intricate details that reflect individual stories.

The custom design service at CP McGinty Jewelers permits clients to develop personalized jewelry using ideas or elements from existing pieces. Staff aid in choosing materials and forms to create items. Engagement rings in the inventory display cuts and settings for milestone acquisitions.

Samuel McGinty, Co-Owner, discussed the store's community role and the collection's relevance. "Over 45 years of operation have enabled CP McGinty Jewelers to supply jewelry selections that incorporate current trends and traditional elements, and the Gabriel & Co. line adds value by offering designs that resonate with customers' emotional experiences," McGinty said.

CP McGinty Jewelers obtains products according to quality standards, with each piece fulfilling longevity requirements. The holiday emphasis features items with motifs for winter events. Customers can review engagement rings showing metal combinations and gem arrangements.

The curbside option requires coordination for retrieval. The store offers advice on maintenance to sustain jewelry's condition. This method applies to items, including Gabriel & Co. pieces.

Throughout its history, CP McGinty Jewelers has responded to customer requirements by adding brands and services. The Gabriel & Co. introduction modifies the season's assortment with these designs. The inventory spans price points and aesthetics.

The collection facilitates gifting choices with forms and materials. Custom services enable adjustments such as engravings or stone choices, incorporating personal aspects. These elements support shoppers during the holiday. The Gabriel & Co. items became available in November 2025 and remain accessible through the end of the year.

During the holiday season, CP McGinty Jewelers assists local residents with its selections. The combination of brands provides choices. Fashion jewelry options consist of rings, necklaces, and earrings for layering or individual use. The Kendra Scott line employs colorful components, while Fire Fly centers on accents.

CP McGinty Jewelers operates as a family-owned business specializing in lab-grown diamonds in Cape Girardeau, MO. Established over 45 years ago, the store supplies engagement rings, custom designs, and fashion jewelry to the Cape Girardeau area. The business has maintained a presence in the community by offering a range of products that meet diverse needs.

The inclusion of Gabriel & Co. reflects the store's adaptation to preferences for jewelry that combines craftsmanship with meaningful design. Customers have access to these pieces. The overall assortment includes options for various occasions beyond the holidays.
