

NurseRegistry Addresses Critical California Nurse Staffing Shortages with Expanded Healthcare Support

December 08, 2025

SANTA MONICA, CA - December 08, 2025 -
NurseRegistry, a leading healthcare staffing provider based in Santa Monica, announces its continued expansion of nursing services to meet unprecedented demand across California healthcare facilities. The agency maintains a network of over 500 thoroughly screened registered nurses and licensed vocational nurses ready for deployment to hospitals, skilled nursing facilities, rehabilitation centers, and specialized care units throughout the state.

The expansion comes as California faces ongoing nursing shortages that have intensified pressure on healthcare facilities to maintain adequate staffing levels. NurseRegistry provides rapid placement services, typically fulfilling staffing requests within 48 hours for both short-term coverage and long-term assignments.

"Healthcare facilities across California are experiencing critical staffing challenges that directly impact patient care quality," said Josh Pangan, CEO at NurseRegistry. "Our expanded network ensures facilities can maintain appropriate nurse-to-patient ratios while providing experienced professionals who can integrate seamlessly into existing care teams."

NurseRegistry serves diverse healthcare settings including psychiatric facilities, substance abuse treatment centers, eating disorder clinics, surgery centers, and long-term care facilities. The agency specializes in Nurse Staffing Across California, providing both per diem and permanent placement options without upfront costs or hidden fees for healthcare facilities.

Beyond institutional staffing, the agency has expanded its private duty nursing services for patients requiring specialized care at home. This includes post-operative recovery support, chronic condition management, pediatric care, and palliative care services. Home health support has become increasingly vital as more patients transition from hospital to home-based care settings.

The agency's comprehensive screening process ensures all nursing professionals meet stringent qualification standards and possess relevant specialty certifications for their assigned facilities. This thorough vetting process has contributed to NurseRegistry earning the Best of Staffing Talent Award for four consecutive years.

"The healthcare landscape requires staffing partners who understand the unique demands of different care environments," added Pangan. "From acute psychiatric units to pediatric special needs programs, each setting requires nurses with specific skill sets and experience levels."

NurseRegistry maintains 24/7 staffing support to address urgent coverage needs and provides scheduling flexibility that accommodates both facility requirements and nurse preferences. The agency has facilitated over half a million hours of nursing shifts across California facilities.
