Casio Inc., a business in Hillside, NJ, has recently launched a new line of premium silicon keyboard covers for the Acer Chromebook. As soon as it was released, the product immediately started to gather a lot of interest from consumers. While only having been available for a short period of time, the silicon keyboard cover has already received nearly 100 positive reviews.

Nir Cohen from Casio Inc. says: "We are so happy to see that people love our product. We worked a long time to develop something that worked and is fit for purpose, as well as surpassing other similar items in terms of quality, durability and affordability. To see that this is recognized by our happy customers is wonderful news."

The Acer keyboard skin has a number of key benefits. Its main goal is to protect the keyboard from spills, dirt and dust, as well as usual wear and tear. It is ultra thin and very flexible, fitting seamlessly on most Chromebook models without changing the look or feel of the keyboard. The skin is designed to be hygienic and durable. It can be reused again and again, as it can simply be removed and washed and disinfected before being put back in place.

The ultrathin silicon keyboard cover fits the Chromebook 11.6" models CB3-111, C720, and the C720P.

Those who have tried the product have been full of praise. "I received the turquoise keyboard cover for the Acer Chromebook and the color is very pretty," says Amazon customer Laura. "The color in person is very close to the color in the product pictures. This keyboard cover is silicon and is very easy to apply and clean. You do not have to apply each key separately. All the keys come on one sheet that you just peel off and set on the keys. It is also very easy to remove but yet it does stay in place and does not move around. I love how it keeps my keyboard clean and blocks particles from getting caught under and around my keys. It also helps prevent liquid from getting on the keys."

Casiii offers premium computer accessories that are relevant to today's world. Eco-friendly, durable and good looking, they are a fantastic accessory to any Acer Chromebook.
