

Chef's Deal Restaurant Equipment Introduces CPS Extended Warranty Program for Kitchen Protection

December 18, 2025

Nashville, Tennessee - December 18, 2025 -
Chef's Deal, a leading national supplier of commercial kitchen equipment, today announced the launch of its CPS Extended Warranty Program, offering foodservice operators expanded protection beyond standard manufacturer warranties. The program is designed to help restaurants, hospitality groups, institutions, and foodservice businesses reduce operational risks, manage unexpected repair costs, and extend the lifespan of critical kitchen equipment.

The new warranty program offers two distinct coverage paths designed to meet diverse operational needs. For products covered by original equipment manufacturer warranties, businesses can extend coverage by one to five additional years, with protection beginning after the manufacturer's warranty expires. For open-box and scratch-and-dent products, coverage begins on day 31 from the purchase date, providing protection for budget-conscious operators seeking quality equipment at reduced costs.

"Downtime in a commercial kitchen can disrupt operations and impact customer satisfaction," said Matthew

Yaz, General Manager at Chef's Deal. "Our extended warranty partnership ensures operators receive reliable service support, faster repairs, and long-term equipment protection, allowing them to focus on serving their customers with confidence."

The CPS Extended Warranty Plans include comprehensive coverage features essential for commercial kitchen operations. All plans provide 100 percent parts and labor coverage for internal hardware failures, with service performed by authorized manufacturer-approved technicians. On-site repair support minimizes operational disruption, while coverage extends across all commercial kitchen equipment categories, including refrigeration units, dishwashers, cooking equipment, and small appliances.

Businesses seeking to Secure Your Commercial Kitchen Equipment with CPS Extended Warranty can learn more about the program through the company's communication channels. The program represents a significant addition to Chef's Deal's comprehensive service offerings, which already include free consulting, design and layout services, and an instant discount program.

Distinctive features tailored specifically for the foodservice industry set this program apart from standard warranty offerings. The program includes food spoilage protection of up to $250 for losses resulting from refrigeration failure, a replacement guarantee that coordinates unit replacement or offers store credit when repairs cannot be completed, and unlimited claims throughout the coverage period. Additionally, operators can track, schedule, and monitor service requests through the CPS digital platform, streamlining the maintenance management process.

The partnership with Consumer Priority Service brings significant credibility to the program, backed by CPS's 25 years of industry experience and an A.M. Best "A-" (Excellent) rating. This collaboration enables Chef's Deal to offer foodservice operators a solution that helps stabilize maintenance budgets, plan long-term equipment management more effectively, and protect investments across high-use commercial environments.

The foodservice industry depends on reliable equipment to maintain safety, efficiency, and service quality. Unexpected breakdowns can disrupt production, increase costs, and reduce the ability to meet demand. By offering extended warranty coverage, Chef?s Deal helps operators stabilize budgets, plan long-term maintenance more effectively, and protect investments across high-use environments.
