December 18, 2025

PLEASANTON, CA - December 18, 2025 -
Adams Pool Solutions, a Northern California swimming pool contractor with operations dating back to 1953, continues to strengthen its position as a leading provider of commercial pool construction services for hotels, resorts, municipalities, and educational institutions throughout the region. The company's commercial division has completed projects ranging from boutique hotel pools to Olympic-sized municipal facilities as part of its portfolio of over 29,000 total projects.

The company's commercial pool construction expertise addresses the unique demands of high-volume aquatic facilities that require both durability and operational efficiency. Working alongside general contractors, architects, and engineering firms, Adams Pool Solutions delivers projects that meet the stringent requirements of commercial properties while maintaining schedules and budgets critical to institutional and hospitality clients.

"Commercial pool projects require a fundamentally different approach than residential work, from the initial engineering specifications to the long-term maintenance considerations," said Ray Langford, Marketing Director at Adams Pool Solutions. "Our seven decades of experience have given us deep insights into what hotels, municipalities, and educational institutions need from their aquatic facilities, allowing us to deliver solutions that perform reliably under constant use."

The company's commercial projects incorporate advanced technologies specifically selected for high-traffic environments. These include energy-efficient circulation systems that reduce operational costs, automated chemical management equipment that maintains water quality with minimal staff intervention, and specialized surface materials engineered to withstand the demands of commercial use. Such technological integration has become increasingly important as commercial facilities face pressure to reduce operating expenses while maintaining superior guest and user experiences.

Adams Pool Solutions maintains active memberships with the California Pool and Spa Association, the National Plasterers Council, and the Pool and Hot Tub Alliance. These affiliations ensure the company's construction methods align with evolving industry standards and regulatory requirements that govern commercial aquatic facilities. The company's expertise spans new construction projects for luxury hotels expanding their amenity offerings, municipal aquatic centers serving community needs, homeowners associations upgrading shared facilities, and educational institutions developing competitive swimming programs.

The commercial division's project portfolio demonstrates the range of facilities the company serves. Recent projects have included resort pools designed to accommodate hundreds of daily users, municipal facilities meeting Americans with Disabilities Act requirements, and educational institution pools built to competitive swimming specifications. Each project type presents distinct challenges, from the aesthetic requirements of luxury hospitality properties to the strict safety and accessibility standards of public facilities.

Adams Pool Solutions operates from its Northern California base, leveraging resources developed over seven decades to serve commercial clients throughout the region. The company's commercial pool construction capabilities extend beyond initial construction to include comprehensive renovation services for existing facilities seeking to modernize their operations or extend their service life. As commercial properties increasingly recognize the value of well-designed aquatic facilities in attracting guests, residents, and community members, Adams Pool Solutions continues to expand its commercial operations to meet growing regional demand.
