Horst Shewmaker Marks Six Years of Representing Personal Injury Victims in Johns Creek

December 22, 2025

ALPHARETTA, GA - December 22, 2025 -
Horst Shewmaker, LLC commemorates six years of providing legal representation to personal injury victims throughout Johns Creek and the greater Atlanta metropolitan area. Since establishing operations in 2019, the firm has recovered more than $30 million in compensation for clients while maintaining a contingency fee structure that eliminates upfront costs for injured individuals seeking justice.

The milestone reflects the firm's growth from its founding to becoming a recognized presence in Georgia's personal injury legal landscape. The firm's attorneys bring more than 50 years of combined experience to cases involving car accidents, truck collisions, motorcycle crashes, pedestrian incidents, premises liability, and wrongful death claims.

"Reaching our sixth anniversary serving Johns Creek residents represents more than just a date on the calendar," said Zachary S. Shewmaker, partner at the firm. "Each year has strengthened our understanding of the unique challenges facing injury victims in our community and reinforced our commitment to securing fair compensation for those harmed through no fault of their own."

As a Horst Shewmaker Johns Creek personal injury lawyer team, the firm has handled cases ranging from minor vehicle collisions to catastrophic injuries resulting in permanent disability. The practice operates from its base in Alpharetta while serving clients throughout Fulton County and surrounding areas. Managing Partner Michael W. Horst has earned recognition as a Super Lawyers selectee, highlighting the firm's professional standing within the legal community.

The firm's approach combines backgrounds in both defense and plaintiff representation, providing attorneys with comprehensive perspectives on personal injury litigation. This dual experience enables the legal team to anticipate opposing strategies and develop stronger cases for their clients. The contingency fee model means clients pay nothing unless the firm secures compensation through settlement or trial verdict.

Personal injury cases in Johns Creek often involve complex insurance negotiations and legal procedures that can overwhelm individuals already dealing with physical recovery and financial stress. The firm handles various injury claims including brain trauma, spinal cord damage, dog bites, and slip-and-fall incidents. Each case receives individualized attention from attorneys who understand the long-term implications of serious injuries on victims and their families.

"The past six years have shown us that every Johns Creek personal injury lawyer case tells a unique story of disruption and recovery," added Shewmaker. "Our role extends beyond legal representation to helping clients navigate the entire recovery process while we handle the legal complexities."

The firm's service area encompasses Johns Creek, Alpharetta, and the broader Atlanta metropolitan region. Beyond traditional personal injury cases, the practice has expanded its expertise to include rideshare accidents involving Uber and Lyft, reflecting evolving transportation patterns in the area.

Horst Shewmaker, LLC specializes in personal injury law with offices serving Georgia communities from Alpharetta and Augusta. The firm operates under the principle of providing accessible legal representation without requiring upfront payment from clients. Founded in 2019, the practice has grown to include multiple attorneys dedicated exclusively to representing accident and injury victims throughout the state.
