

The Dumpster Co. Joins Salvation Army Angel Tree Program, Brings Holiday Cheer to McDonough, GA Families

December 23, 2025

JACKSON, GA - December 23, 2025 -
The Dumpster Co., a leading provider of roll-off dumpster rental services across Georgia, proudly participated in its first year of charitable giving through the Salvation Army's Angel Tree program. The company adopted Angels through the McDonough, GA Salvation Army location, helping to bring holiday cheer to local families in need.

This year marks a meaningful milestone as the company embraced its commitment to give back to the communities it serves. With a deep-rooted presence in McDonough and surrounding areas, the team supported the Angel Tree program to ensure that children in the community experienced the joy of Christmas morning.

"We are incredibly grateful for the opportunity to give back," said Joe Hardin, a representative of The Dumpster Co. "Our team was moved by the mission of the Salvation Army Angel Tree program and the impact it has on local families. This was our first year participating, and it certainly won't be our last."

The Angel Tree program, independently operated by The Salvation Army, provides Christmas gifts for children and senior adults across the country. Families in need can register to become "Angels," and their wish lists are shared with community donors. The Salvation Army ensures that every recipient receives new toys and clothing, which are distributed to families before Christmas. The process is designed to respect the dignity and privacy of recipients. Donors receive only the first name and wish list of each Angel to preserve anonymity.

In McDonough, employees from the company came together to select Angels, shop for gifts, and deliver their donations to the local site. The experience was heartwarming and served as a powerful reminder of the importance of community support, especially during the holiday season.

"We wanted to do something that went beyond our regular business operations," added Hardin. "Partnering with the Salvation Army allowed us to make a direct and personal impact. Knowing that a child will wake up to gifts they hoped for because of this effort is incredibly rewarding."

This year's effort was especially significant as the need for support continues to grow. Many families face financial challenges during the holidays, and programs like the Angel Tree provide a vital safety net. By participating, the team hopes to inspire other local businesses to take part in charitable efforts that uplift the community.

"The holidays can be a difficult time for many," said Hardin. "We believe every child deserves a magical Christmas morning. Supporting the Angel Tree program allowed us to spread joy and show families in McDonough that they are not alone."

Though this was the company's first year donating through the program, it plans to make this a recurring tradition. The enthusiastic participation from staff, the coordination with the Salvation Army team, and the gratitude expressed by the community reaffirmed the importance of giving back.

"We hope our small act of kindness can make a lasting impact," Hardin concluded. "And we encourage others to consider getting involved with the Angel Tree program or other local charitable efforts."

The Dumpster Co. extends its heartfelt thanks to the Salvation Army McDonough team for their dedication and support. The company wishes all Georgia families a safe, joyful, and peaceful holiday season.

The Salvation Army Angel Tree program helps provide Christmas gifts to hundreds of thousands of children and senior adults across the United States each year. By sharing wish lists with donors in local communities, the program ensures that families in need can enjoy a joyful holiday season. For more information or to get involved, visit https://southernusa.salvationarmy.org/metro-atlanta/angel-tree/
