March 24, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Vancouver, WA based Landscaper Marketing Services, has announced a new website template that is designed specifically for landscapers. The company states that the new template is much more geared toward landscaping than what they have offered in the past.

The company, whose website can be seen at <http://landscapermarketingservices.com/>, has prepared a number of website templates that they state are perfect for landscape designers and laborers. "We understand your landscaping business and just what image you want to project," states Kalon Wiggins, a spokesperson for Landscaper Marketing Services.

Wiggins states that many businesses grow weary of working with local companies that do not understand how to make those businesses stand out from the competition. The company states that they understand local businesses and just what it takes to get them ahead of similar companies, by providing websites that will get the attention of their prospective customers. More about the company can be seen on their Facebook page, where Wiggins states businesses can also see what others have to say about their services.

"Our ultimate goal is to make you successful," says Wiggins. The company says that they can now build landscaper websites that look more like a site that should be in that industry, as opposed to other companies that simply use a general template for a number of service industries.

Wiggins says that they can provide a responsive design that is mobile friendly, and provide update management to protect websites, as well as offering strong calls to action that will seize the attention of potential customers and urge them to contact the business for landscaping services.

The new templates offer customization, including themes that match company logos and brand colors and galleries that are specifically designed to showcase the work of the business and let customers see specifically what they have to offer.

Wiggins states that the company allows clients to make changes to their websites on the new templates, and that they offer support. A video of the new templates can be seen on the company's YouTube page. Those interested in learning more or seeing the new landscaping templates can do so on the company's official website.
