December 30, 2025

MT PLEASANT, SC - December 30, 2025 -
Disaster Plus, a building restoration service with over 37 years of experience, has expanded its rapid-response commercial water damage restoration capabilities to better serve businesses throughout the Mount Pleasant area. The expansion comes as coastal storms and plumbing infrastructure failures continue to pose significant risks to commercial properties in the region.

The enhanced commercial services focus on minimizing business interruption through accelerated response times and specialized equipment deployment. With recent weather patterns bringing increased moisture and storm activity to coastal South Carolina, commercial property owners face heightened risks of water damage from multiple sources including roof leaks, HVAC malfunctions, and plumbing system failures.

Disaster Plus in Mount Pleasant, SC has invested in additional commercial-grade drying equipment and expanded its technical team to address the growing demand for immediate response services. The company maintains 24-hour availability throughout the year, recognizing that water damage emergencies can occur at any time and require immediate attention to prevent secondary damage such as mold growth and structural deterioration.

"Commercial water damage requires a fundamentally different approach than residential restoration," said Keating Norris, Operations Director at Disaster Plus. "Business owners need restoration partners who understand the critical importance of minimizing downtime. Every hour a business remains closed represents lost revenue and potential customer relationships. Our expanded commercial services are designed to get businesses operational again as quickly as possible while ensuring thorough restoration."

The company's commercial restoration process includes comprehensive moisture mapping, strategic equipment placement, and continuous monitoring to ensure optimal drying conditions. Their IICRC-certified technicians utilize industrial dehumidifiers, air movers, and specialized extraction equipment designed specifically for large-scale commercial applications.

Beyond water damage restoration, Disaster Plus provides integrated services including mold remediation, fire and smoke damage restoration, biohazard cleanup, and sewage removal. This comprehensive approach allows commercial clients to work with a single restoration provider for various property damage scenarios, streamlining the recovery process and insurance coordination.

The expansion of commercial services addresses a critical need in the SC business community, where aging infrastructure and severe weather events create ongoing risks for property damage. Recent industry data indicates that water damage ranks among the most common and costly insurance claims for commercial properties, with average restoration times significantly impacting business operations.

"We've seen firsthand how quickly water damage can escalate in commercial settings," added Norris. "A small leak can affect multiple floors, damage inventory, and disrupt operations for dozens of businesses in a single building. Our expanded capabilities ensure we can handle projects of any scale while maintaining our commitment to quality restoration."

Disaster Plus has served the greater Charleston area since 1986, building a reputation for reliable emergency response and comprehensive restoration services. The locally owned and operated company works with all major insurance carriers and maintains a perfect 5.0 rating based on extensive customer feedback. Their team of certified technicians undergoes continuous training to stay current with industry best practices and emerging restoration technologies.
