Best Awning Company Introduces Advanced Custom Retractable Awnings for Colorado Homes

January 09, 2026

Conifer, Colorado - January 09, 2026 -
Best Awning Company, a Denver-based shade solutions provider serving Colorado since 1979, announces the introduction of its latest generation of retractable awnings designed specifically to withstand Colorado's challenging weather conditions while providing enhanced energy efficiency for homeowners.

The company's new line of retractable awnings features reinforced frames engineered to handle high winds and sudden weather changes common in the Front Range region. These awnings incorporate advanced fabric technology that blocks up to 99 percent of harmful UV rays while maintaining visibility and natural light transmission, addressing growing concerns about sun exposure and rising cooling costs.

Best Awning Company has expanded its offerings to include both manual and motorized options, with smart home integration capabilities that allow homeowners to control their outdoor shade through mobile applications. The motorized systems feature quiet operation technology and wind sensors that automatically retract the awning during severe weather conditions.

"Colorado homeowners face unique challenges with our intense sun exposure at altitude and unpredictable weather patterns," said Tyler Coomes, General Manager at Best Awning Company. "These new retractable awnings combine durability with sophisticated design elements that complement modern home aesthetics while providing practical benefits like reducing indoor temperatures by up to 20 degrees."

The company's retractable awnings are available in multiple configurations, including wall-mounted, soffit-mounted, and roof-mounted options. Each installation is customized to match the specific architectural features and shade requirements of individual properties. The awnings come in over 200 fabric patterns and colors, allowing homeowners to coordinate with existing exterior design elements.

Best Awning Company Retractable Awning Installation services include comprehensive site assessment, professional mounting, and post-installation support. The installation process typically takes one to two days, depending on the complexity of the project and the number of units being installed. All installations include a detailed demonstration of operation and maintenance procedures.

The enhanced retractable awnings feature aluminum frames with powder-coated finishes that resist corrosion and fading. The fabric components utilize solution-dyed acrylic materials that maintain color vibrancy despite prolonged sun exposure. These materials also resist mildew and water damage, extending the lifespan of the awning significantly compared to traditional canvas options.

"We're seeing increased demand for outdoor living solutions that extend the usability of patios and decks throughout more months of the year," added Coomes. "Our retractable awnings provide instant shade when needed but can be easily stored during winter months or when homeowners want full sun exposure."

Best Awning Company has been providing shade solutions to residential and commercial properties throughout the Denver Metro and Front Range areas for over four decades. The company specializes in retractable awnings, window awnings, metal awnings, pergola systems, and commercial shade structures. In addition to new installations, the company offers fabric replacement services, repairs, and maintenance programs to ensure long-term performance of all awning systems.
