Adams Pool Solutions Announces Expanded Commercial Pool Construction Services for Both Hotels and Resorts

January 08, 2026

PLEASANTON, CA - January 08, 2026 -
Adams Pool Solutions, a Northern California swimming pool contractor established in 1953, announces the expansion of its commercial pool construction services to meet growing demand from hotels, resorts, and municipal facilities throughout the region. The expansion includes additional project management resources and specialized equipment dedicated to large-scale aquatic facility development.

The company's commercial division has increased its capacity to handle multiple concurrent projects for hotels, resorts, homeowner associations, and educational institutions. This expansion follows the completion of several major municipal pool facilities in Northern California during the past year, including installations that meet Americans with Disabilities Act requirements and competitive swimming specifications.

"The demand for commercial pool construction has increased significantly as hotels and municipalities modernize their aquatic facilities," said Ray Langford, Marketing Director at Adams Pool Solutions. "We have expanded our commercial division to ensure we can meet project timelines while maintaining the technical standards these facilities require."

Adams Pool Solutions has completed over 29,000 projects since 1953, with recent commercial installations including resort pools designed for high-volume usage and municipal facilities serving thousands of residents annually. The company's commercial projects incorporate energy-efficient circulation systems, automated chemical management equipment, and surface materials engineered for commercial applications.

The expansion enables Adams Pool Solutions to work with additional general contractors, architects, and engineering firms on commercial pool projects throughout Northern California. The company's commercial division now maintains dedicated teams for new construction and renovation projects, allowing simultaneous work on multiple large-scale facilities.

Commercial pool construction differs substantially from residential projects in terms of engineering requirements, regulatory compliance, and operational considerations. Hotels and municipalities require facilities designed for continuous operation, with systems capable of handling hundreds of daily users while maintaining water quality standards. Educational institutions need pools that meet specific dimensional requirements for competitive swimming programs.

Adams Pool Solutions maintains memberships with the California Pool and Spa Association, the National Plasterers Council, and the Pool and Hot Tub Alliance. These affiliations ensure that construction methods align with current industry standards and regulatory requirements for commercial aquatic facilities.

The company's renovation division addresses aging commercial pools requiring system upgrades or surface replacement. Common renovation projects include updating circulation systems to meet current energy efficiency standards, replacing deteriorating surfaces, and installing safety features required by updated regulations.

Market data indicates continued growth in commercial pool construction as properties invest in aquatic amenities. Hotels and resorts recognize pool facilities as important components of guest services, while municipalities face increasing demand for public aquatic facilities. Educational institutions continue to upgrade existing pools to meet contemporary athletic program requirements.

Adams Pool Solutions serves commercial clients from its Northern California base, with completed projects including boutique hotel pools, Olympic-sized municipal facilities, homeowner association amenities, and educational institution aquatic centers. The company's commercial portfolio demonstrates experience with diverse facility types and project scales.

The expanded commercial division positions Adams Pool Solutions to address the growing market for professional-grade pool installations in Northern California's hospitality, municipal, and educational sectors.
