Laiona Moving LLC Expands Long-Distance Moving Division to Serve More Customers

January 05, 2026

WINTHROP, MA - January 05, 2026 -
Laiona Moving LLC, a licensed and insured moving company, has introduced coordinated storage service options to assist customers who need short-term or long-term storage during relocation. The new service supports residents who experience timing gaps between homes by offering organized, secure, and professionally managed storage solutions.

Established in 2021, Laiona Moving LLC has earned a reputation for preparation, reliability, and consistent communication. Serving customers across Greater Boston and surrounding areas, the company has expanded its operations to create a complete moving experience that includes both transportation and coordinated storage. This initiative allows customers to access verified facilities that meet strict standards for safety and accessibility.

Although Laiona Moving does not own or operate warehouses, it partners with trusted storage providers that maintain clean and secure environments. The company?s moving teams oversee the entire process, from pickup to final delivery, ensuring that customers? belongings remain under professional care.

?Many of our customers find themselves between homes or waiting for renovation work,? said Ramy Laribi, owner of Laiona Moving LLC. ?They need reliable storage but prefer not to deal with multiple vendors. Our coordinated storage service gives them one system that manages every step. We handle logistics while customers enjoy peace of mind knowing their belongings are safe.?

The coordinated storage program integrates directly into Laiona Moving?s local and long-distance moving services. Customers can include storage when booking their move. After a consultation, the company recommends a facility based on capacity, accessibility, and duration. Once a plan is confirmed, Laiona Moving manages transportation, documentation, and secure placement of items.

The process follows four stages: planning, packing, transport, and verification. During planning, coordinators review timing, access points, and storage requirements. Packing includes organized labeling, wrapping, and preparation to ensure items remain protected. Transportation is completed using clean, well-equipped vehicles. Verification confirms that each item is properly recorded and secured once placed in storage.

Each coordinated service includes up to $100,000 in insurance coverage during handling and transport. This coverage provides customers reassurance while their belongings are managed by trained professionals. For longer-term storage, Laiona Moving helps arrange extended protection through its facility partners.

A key advantage of this program is simplified communication. Customers maintain one point of contact for both moving and storage, reducing confusion and scheduling delays. The same team responsible for packing and loading also oversees the transfer and placement of items. This unified approach promotes accuracy and accountability.

?Our goal is consistency,? Laribi said. ?Customers appreciate knowing that the same professionals who move their belongings also coordinate the storage. It ensures organization and prevents miscommunication.?

Operating seven days a week from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., Laiona Moving continues to prioritize flexibility for customers with time-sensitive schedules. The introduction of coordinated storage expands the company?s goal of improving moving experiences through structure, clarity, and dependable service.

Through this initiative, Laiona Moving LLC reinforces its mission to deliver reliable, organized, and secure relocation support to residents across Massachusetts.

Customers may request climate-controlled units, ground-level access, or drive-up loading based on household needs. Inventory lists and photo documentation can be created at pickup to support accurate return delivery. Storage terms are quoted in writing and can be adjusted if timelines change. Laiona Moving also coordinates final scheduling with facility staff so retrieval happens smoothly on move-in day for customers.
