

NurseRegistry Announces Care Conversations Podcast Series

January 27, 2026

SAN FRANCISCO, CA - January 27, 2026 -
NurseRegistry, a leading provider of skilled nursing services in California, has launched Care Conversations, a new podcast series designed to address critical topics in healthcare and nursing. The educational initiative provides listeners with a trusted source for clear, compassionate health information.

The podcast series represents NurseRegistry's commitment to fostering dialogue within the healthcare community beyond traditional nurse staffing services. Podcast episodes feature discussions on topics ranging from patient advocacy and clinical best practices to the evolving landscape of home healthcare delivery. Healthcare professionals and interested listeners can access comprehensive information about the series at https://www.nurseregistry.com/blog/introducing-care-conversations/ where episode guides and additional resources are available.

"Care Conversations emerged from our recognition that folks need accessible platforms for learning about the healthcare industry," said Katarina Blume, Marketing Director at NurseRegistry. "We are thrilled to provide a podcast that allows folks to digest healthcare topics that may be a bit intimidating in an easy-to-consume way. Each episode is just 15 to 20 minutes, so it is very convenient to listen to a full episode during a typical work commute."

The podcast addresses the growing demand for a better understanding of potentially complex medical topics, particularly as healthcare delivery models continue to evolve. With over 475 nurses in its network and more than a decade of experience in healthcare staffing, NurseRegistry brings substantial industry expertise to the podcast's content development. Additionally, other topics covered may be less complex subjects that just need a little more defining for general audiences.

Episodes are produced in both audio and video formats to accommodate different learning preferences. Individuals who prefer visual content can watch on YouTube, while those seeking audio-only options can access episodes through traditional podcast platforms.

The series covers practical topics relevant to both seasoned professionals and those new to healthcare. Recent episodes have explored subjects including patient communication strategies, managing caregiver stress, and navigating regulatory changes in home healthcare. Each episode aims to provide actionable insights that listeners can apply in their daily practice.

NurseRegistry encourages listeners to subscribe to Care Conversations to receive notifications about new episodes and special content. Listeners can find Care Conversations on Apple Podcasts, Spotify, or YouTube.

Founded in 2009, NurseRegistry has established itself as a trusted provider of skilled nursing services throughout California. The company offers private nursing, healthcare staffing, and home health support services, maintaining 24/7 availability to meet the diverse needs of individuals, families, and healthcare facilities.
