

NW Pacific Electric Co Expands Commercial Electrical Services to Support Southwest Washington Business Growth

January 20, 2026

VANCOUVER, WA - January 20, 2026 -
NW Pacific Electric Co, a Vancouver-based electrical service and construction company, has expanded its commercial electrical services division to meet increasing demand from businesses throughout Southwest Washington. The expansion comes as commercial development continues to accelerate across the region, creating a significant need for professional electrical contractors capable of handling complex commercial projects.

The company, which maintains a perfect 5.0 rating based on 427 customer reviews, has enhanced its commercial capabilities to include comprehensive tenant improvements, lighting retrofits, HVAC wiring installations, and National Electrical Code upgrades. These expanded services address the growing requirements of businesses establishing or expanding operations in Clark County and the greater Portland-Vancouver metropolitan area.

"Commercial development in Southwest Washington has reached unprecedented levels, and businesses need electrical contractors who can deliver reliable, code-compliant installations on schedule," said Jess, a representative from NW Pacific Electric Co. "Our expanded commercial division ensures that growing businesses have access to the professional electrical services they need, from initial buildouts to ongoing maintenance and upgrades."

The expansion encompasses several critical service areas for commercial clients. The company now offers enhanced lighting retrofit services designed to improve energy efficiency and reduce operational costs for businesses. Additionally, the firm has increased its capacity for HVAC wiring and Direct Digital Control installations, providing fixed-cost wiring solutions that help HVAC contractors complete projects efficiently.

National Electrical Code compliance represents another key component of the expanded services. The company ensures all commercial installations meet current NEC codes and regulations, helping businesses avoid costly violations and maintain safe operating environments. This focus on code compliance has become increasingly important as regulatory requirements continue to evolve.

The timing of this expansion aligns with regional economic indicators showing sustained commercial growth throughout Clark County. New business formations, commercial construction permits, and tenant improvement projects have all increased significantly over the past year, creating substantial demand for qualified electrical contractors.

Beyond standard commercial services, the company also provides electrical troubleshooting, breaker repair services, and electrical panel inspections for commercial properties. These services help businesses maintain operational continuity and address electrical issues before they result in costly downtime.

The expansion also includes same-day emergency service availability for commercial clients, recognizing that electrical problems can significantly impact business operations. This rapid response capability distinguishes the company in a market where many contractors cannot accommodate urgent commercial needs.

NW Pacific Electric Co's commercial electrical services in Vancouver, WA serves the entire Greater Portland-Vancouver metro area. The company specializes in electrical panel services, lighting retrofits, hot tub wiring, electrical troubleshooting, breaker repairs, HVAC wiring and DDC installations, and National Electrical Code upgrades. With certified electrical technicians and a commitment to delivering quality work on schedule, the firm has established itself as a trusted electrical contractor for both homeowners and businesses throughout Southwest Washington.
