STM Trucks & Machinery, a family-owned commercial vehicle and machinery dealership headquartered in Western Sydney, has reached a significant milestone of 50 years in business. Learn more about STM Trucks & Machinery and its history here. The company, formerly known as Sydney Trucks and Machinery, operates three locations across New South Wales and provides truck sales, machinery distribution, spare parts, workshop services, and financing solutions to businesses throughout the region.

STM serves small business owners, landscapers, and trade professionals who depend on commercial vehicles and industrial equipment for their daily operations. The company maintains an inventory of new trucks from manufacturers including Iveco and Fuso, alongside machinery from brands such as Kobelco, D'avino, Merlo, and ASV. Pre-owned trucks and machinery are also available, with inventory updated regularly to meet market demand from businesses seeking cost-effective equipment solutions.

The company's three-location network positions STM to serve customers across key commercial corridors in New South Wales. The Smeaton Grange headquarters in Western Sydney is complemented by branches in Queanbeyan West, providing access for Canberra-based customers, and Unanderra on the South Coast.

This geographic footprint enables the company to maintain consistent service standards while remaining accessible to customers throughout the Sydney metropolitan area, the Southern Highlands, and surrounding regions.

"Our customers are the foundation of everything we do, and that principle has guided this company for five decades," said a representative at STM Trucks & Machinery. "We understand that when equipment is not working, businesses are not earning. That's why we've built our operations around being there when our customers need us most."

The parts division supplies components for multiple brands, including Iveco, International, Fuso, Kobelco, ASV, and Cummins. Inventory encompasses engine components, braking systems, electrical parts, and accessories required for routine maintenance and repairs. Parts delivery services operate twice daily throughout Metropolitan Sydney, with additional afternoon coverage extending to the Southern Highlands and Wollongong regions. Expedited shipping options are available for urgent part replacements to minimise downtime for time-sensitive operations. Parts not maintained in stock can be sourced through the company's supplier network.

STM's workshop facility operates six days per week and accommodates large vehicles, including B-Doubles. The company provides 24-hour emergency support and on-site servicing for customers unable to transport equipment to the workshop, ensuring minimal downtime through reliable truck servicing and maintenance support. Workshop services encompass routine maintenance, repairs, and equipment installations to ensure machinery is operational upon delivery. The facility features customer amenities, including courtesy vehicles, rest facilities, and a waiting lounge for those who prefer to remain on-site during service appointments.

"We're a family business that's focused on service and support," the representative added. "We're big enough to trust, but still small enough to care. You can pick up the phone and speak to someone here, and decisions are made quickly. That's where we differ from some of the larger operations."

STM offers finance arrangements for truck and machinery purchases, with terms determined on an individual basis following credit assessment and review of specific purchase requirements. The finance program includes on-site consultation services at customer locations, allowing business operators to discuss options without leaving their worksite. Customisation services are also available for commercial vehicles and transportation equipment to address specific operational requirements or industry applications. Modifications are coordinated through the sales and service departments based on customer specifications.
