

Best Awning Company Unveils New Generation of Motorized Retractable Awnings

January 23, 2026

Conifer, Colorado - January 23, 2026 -
Best Awning Company has unveiled a new generation of motorized retractable awning systems featuring modern design elements and automated shade control technology. The product launch represents the company's response to increasing demand for contemporary outdoor shade solutions that integrate with smart home systems.

The new motorized awning line incorporates quiet-operation motors, weather-resistant materials, and app-based control systems that allow homeowners to adjust shade coverage remotely. The systems feature aluminum frames with powder-coated finishes and solution-dyed acrylic fabrics engineered to withstand Colorado's climate conditions.

"The integration of motorized technology with modern design aesthetics reflects changing homeowner preferences for outdoor living spaces," said Tyler Coomes, President of Best Awning Company. "These new systems provide automated shade control through smartphone apps and can be programmed to extend or retract based on weather sensors, time of day, or temperature thresholds."

The motorized awning systems include wind sensors that automatically retract the awning when wind speeds exceed safe operating levels. Frame designs accommodate spans from 10 to 40 feet, with custom sizing available for specific architectural requirements. The motor mechanisms operate at noise levels below 45 decibels, comparable to library ambient sound levels.

Best Awning Company Retractable Awning Installation services encompass site evaluation, structural mounting, electrical connections for motorized units, and system programming. Installation technicians assess mounting surfaces, determine appropriate fastening methods, and configure automated controls during the installation process.

The company's installation timeline spans two to four weeks from initial consultation to project completion. Motorized installations require coordination with electrical systems, while manual retractable options can typically be installed without electrical modifications. Each installation includes manufacturer warranty documentation and operational training.

"Modern retractable awning technology has evolved significantly from earlier manual crank systems," added Coomes. "Current motorized options feature brushless motors with 10-year operational lifespans and fabric materials that maintain color stability for seven to ten years under constant UV exposure."

The product line includes 12 frame color options and over 100 fabric patterns. Motorized models can integrate with existing home automation platforms including Google Home, Amazon Alexa, and Apple HomeKit. Manual versions feature gear-reduction mechanisms that require minimal physical effort to operate.

Installation pricing varies based on awning dimensions, mounting complexity, and whether electrical work is required for motorized units. The company provides detailed cost estimates following property assessment, with financing options available for qualifying projects.

Best Awning Company has operated in the Denver metropolitan area since 1979, installing retractable awning systems for residential and commercial properties throughout the Colorado Front Range. The company maintains partnerships with manufacturers including SunSetter and KE Awnings, providing installation, repair, and fabric replacement services for multiple awning brands and styles.
