

daylight AG Enhances School Management System Platform for Swiss Educational Institutions

January 21, 2026

Winterthur, ZH - January 21, 2026 - daylight AG, a Winterthur-based educational technology company, has announced significant enhancements to its integrated software platform designed to streamline administrative operations for schools and educational organizations across Switzerland. The comprehensive system combines school administration, course management, examination processing, event coordination, and accounting functions into a single, modular solution.

The enhanced platform addresses growing demands from educational institutions seeking to modernize their administrative processes while maintaining focus on student success and learning outcomes. The software integrates seamlessly with existing IT infrastructure and can be deployed either on-premises or through cloud services, providing flexibility for institutions of varying sizes and technical capabilities. Educational institutions face increasing pressure to manage complex administrative tasks efficiently while dedicating maximum resources to their core mission of education. daylight AG's integrated platform eliminates redundant processes and data silos, allowing schools to operate more effectively and make data-driven decisions that benefit both educators and students.

The comprehensive solution encompasses multiple critical functions for educational administration. People and address management capabilities maintain detailed records of students, faculty, and stakeholders. Course and seminar management tools handle scheduling, enrollment, and resource allocation. The registration management module automates the entire enrollment process from initial inquiry through payment confirmation. Resource management features optimize the use of facilities, equipment, and personnel across multiple programs and locations.

Financial operations receive particular attention through the platform's accounting module, which integrates with leading Swiss financial applications. This ensures compliance with local regulations while providing transparent financial reporting and simplified billing processes. The marketing and customer relationship management components help institutions communicate effectively with prospective and current students, managing campaigns and tracking engagement throughout the educational journey.

The company maintains its headquarters at Bahnhofplatz 12 in Winterthur, where development and support teams work closely with educational partners to ensure the platform continues meeting evolving institutional needs. The platform's online portal creation capabilities enable institutions to establish professional web presences with integrated e-commerce functionality for course registration and payment processing. This digital-first approach aligns with changing expectations from students and parents who increasingly expect seamless online interactions with educational providers.

Swiss educational institutions have expressed strong interest in solutions that combine multiple administrative functions while maintaining data security and compliance with local regulations. The daylight AG platform addresses these requirements through its modular architecture, allowing institutions to implement components based on their specific needs and scale usage as requirements evolve.

daylight AG has served the Swiss education sector for over two decades, developing specialized software solutions that address the unique challenges faced by schools, training centers, and educational organizations. The company's commitment to user-friendly design and continuous innovation has established it as a trusted technology partner for institutions throughout Switzerland. For more details about their
