January 22, 2026

CINCINNATI, OH - January 22, 2026 -
Dr. Mark Mandell-Brown of the Mandell-Brown Plastic Surgery Center has been recognized by three Cincinnati publications in their 2025 awards programs, with the honors reflecting both community and physician support for his practice.

Dr. Mandell-Brown was named "Best Plastic Surgeon" by the Cincinnati Enquirer at their annual People's Choice Award banquet held December 3, 2025, at the Cincinnati Zoo. This marks his fourth consecutive year receiving the honor. He also received the "Best Plastic Surgeon" award from Cincinnati CityBeat for 2025, which represents his tenth consecutive year earning this recognition from the publication's readers. Completing the trifecta, Dr. Mandell-Brown was voted "Top Doc" in plastic surgery by fellow physicians in the Cincinnati Magazine 2025 edition.

"I'm deeply honored that patients and community members have continued to place their trust in our practice year after year," said Dr. Mandell-Brown. "These awards reflect the relationships we've built with the people we serve over the past decade, and that means everything to our team."

The combination of reader-voted awards and peer physician recognition represents a notable achievement in the medical field. Reader-voted awards reflect patient experiences and word-of-mouth recommendations, while the Cincinnati Magazine honor is determined by physician peers evaluating colleagues in their specialty.

"It confirms the public's and physicians' high regard for Dr. Mandell-Brown's meticulous and aesthetic care of patients in the Cincinnati and Dayton region," said Ann Hanson, RN, Head of Operating Rooms at The Mandell-Brown Plastic Surgery Center. "The team provides honest and empathic care with an individualized approach."

The CityBeat award, which Dr. Mandell-Brown has now received every year since 2016, is determined entirely by reader votes. The decade-long streak represents sustained community support and recognition that spans multiple patient generations. Both the Cincinnati Enquirer's People's Choice Awards and CityBeat's annual reader poll draw thousands of votes from local residents across the greater Cincinnati region.

Dr. Mandell-Brown is triple board-certified in facial plastic surgery, cosmetic surgery, and head and neck surgery. His credentials represent advanced training and expertise across multiple surgical specialties, with a particular focus on aesthetic procedures of the face, breast, and body.

A graduate of the University of Cincinnati College of Medicine, Dr. Mandell-Brown completed his residency training in head and neck surgery before pursuing additional fellowship training in facial plastic and reconstructive surgery. His comprehensive training allows him to approach cosmetic concerns from both a functional and aesthetic perspective.

Dr. Mandell-Brown founded the Mandell-Brown Plastic Surgery Center in 2000 to provide patients with a private, comfortable alternative to hospital-based care. The practice features an onsite surgical center with AAAHC accreditation that was recently remodeled to offer enhanced patient privacy and convenience while maintaining safety standards equivalent to hospital facilities.
