

Towne Plumber Expands Services with Tankless Water Heater Installation and Maintenance

January 27, 2026

WOODSTOCK, GA - January 27, 2026 -
Towne Plumber, a locally owned plumbing company serving Cherokee County and surrounding areas, has expanded its service offerings to include comprehensive tankless water heater installation, repair, and maintenance services. The Woodstock-based company now provides customers with access to high-efficiency tankless systems from leading manufacturers, including Rinnai, Rheem, and Navien.

The expansion comes as homeowners throughout Georgia increasingly seek energy-efficient alternatives to traditional tank water heaters. Tankless water heaters provide hot water on demand while reducing energy consumption and saving valuable space in homes. These systems typically last longer than conventional water heaters and can significantly lower monthly energy bills.

Towne Plumber tankless water heaters represent the latest addition to the company's comprehensive plumbing services. The company's technicians have undergone specialized training to properly size, install, and maintain these advanced systems, ensuring optimal performance and longevity. Each installation begins with a thorough assessment of the home's hot water needs, existing plumbing infrastructure, and energy source availability to determine the most suitable model and configuration.

"As more traditional water heaters reach the end of their service life, we're seeing tremendous interest in tankless technology," said Shane Mahaffey a spokesperson from Towne Plumber. "These systems offer superior efficiency and performance, and we're pleased to bring this expertise to our customers throughout the region."

The tankless water heater market has experienced significant growth as homeowners become more aware of the technology's benefits. Unlike traditional tank water heaters that continuously heat and store water, tankless systems heat water only when needed, eliminating standby energy losses. This on-demand approach can reduce water heating costs by up to 30 percent for typical households.

Towne Plumber in Georgia offers both gas and electric tankless water heater options to accommodate different home configurations and energy preferences. Gas models typically provide higher flow rates suitable for larger households, while electric models offer flexibility in installation locations and work well for smaller homes or point-of-use applications.

The company provides comprehensive support throughout the tankless water heater lifecycle, from initial consultation and installation to ongoing maintenance and repair services. Regular maintenance helps maintain peak efficiency and extends equipment life, protecting the customer's investment while ensuring reliable hot water delivery.

"The transition to tankless technology requires proper expertise to ensure customers receive the full benefits of their investment," added Mahaffey. "Our team evaluates factors such as household size, simultaneous hot water demands, and local water conditions to recommend the ideal solution for each customer."

Since 2017, Towne Plumber has built a reputation for reliable, code-compliant plumbing solutions throughout Cherokee County. The company specializes in residential and light commercial plumbing services, including water line repair and replacement, sewer line diagnostics, fixture upgrades, and water filtration systems. The addition of tankless water heater services enhances the company's ability to meet evolving customer needs while supporting energy conservation efforts throughout the community.

Based in Woodstock, Georgia, Towne Plumber serves Canton, Acworth, and surrounding communities with licensed and insured plumbing professionals committed to expert craftsmanship and customer satisfaction.
