January 26, 2026 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

D & D Executive Transportation, a Metro Detroit-based personal transportation provider, announced the continued expansion of its professional ground transportation services across Southeast Michigan. The company serves both individual and corporate clients with scheduled and on-demand transportation for airports, business travel, private events, and group travel.

Operating across key markets including Ann Arbor, Novi, Pontiac, Mount Clemens, Howell, and Canton Township, D & D Executive Transportation has seen steady demand for organized, pre-arranged transportation solutions that prioritize reliability, vehicle quality, and trained chauffeurs. The company reports a consistent 5/5 Google customer rating, reflecting sustained client satisfaction across service categories.

D & D Executive Transportation provides a structured portfolio of services that includes airport shuttle transportation, chauffeur service, hourly transportation, black car service, limousine service, and event transportation for concerts, sporting events, weddings, and corporate functions. Corporate transportation remains a primary focus, with services designed to support executive travel, client meetings, and company-sponsored events.

Airport transportation continues to represent a significant share of bookings. The company coordinates scheduled pickups and drop-offs for regional and international airports, incorporating real-time flight tracking and advanced routing to support punctual arrivals. This service is used by both business travelers and leisure passengers seeking pre-arranged transportation to and from airport terminals.

Group transportation is supported by a fleet of late-model executive shuttle vehicles, including Ford Executive and Mercedes Sprinter Executive Shuttles. These vehicles are configured to accommodate larger parties while maintaining passenger comfort and efficient luggage storage. Interior features include Bluetooth connectivity, USB charging ports, individual reading lights, and climate-controlled seating layouts, allowing the vehicles to support extended travel and group logistics.

Event transportation services are used for a range of occasions, including weddings, concerts, sporting events, and private gatherings. For weddings, D & D Executive Transportation coordinates transportation timelines with planners and venues to ensure consistent arrivals and departures. For entertainment and sporting events, clients often utilize hourly or round-trip transportation to avoid parking constraints and traffic congestion.

The company's chauffeur team is composed of professionally trained drivers with experience in executive and private transportation. Chauffeurs are selected based on driving history, familiarity with regional routes, and customer service standards. Each chauffeur operates under company protocols focused on punctuality, discretion, and passenger safety.

D & D Executive Transportation has invested in fleet maintenance and scheduling systems to support service consistency across its coverage area. Vehicles undergo regular inspections and are maintained according to manufacturer guidelines. Reservation and dispatch processes are structured to accommodate advance bookings as well as time-sensitive transportation requests.

According to company representatives, client demand has increased for Metro Detroit transportation service providers that offer structured scheduling, modern vehicles, and clear service expectations. Businesses and private clients alike are seeking alternatives to rideshare platforms for situations that require reliability, coordination, or professional presentation.

In response to this demand, D & D Executive Transportation has expanded availability across Southeast Michigan while maintaining defined service zones to ensure operational consistency. The company reports increased usage among corporate clients coordinating travel for executives, visiting partners, and group functions.

D & D Executive Transportation's service model emphasizes advance planning, clear communication, and standardized vehicle presentation. Clients receive confirmation details prior to scheduled transportation, and chauffeurs are assigned based on trip requirements and vehicle capacity.

The company's 5/5 Google rating reflects feedback across multiple service categories, including airport transportation, corporate travel, and event services. Reviews frequently reference punctual arrivals, vehicle condition, and professional driver conduct.

As transportation needs evolve across Southeast Michigan, D & D Executive Transportation continues to adjust service capacity and vehicle offerings to align with client usage patterns. The company plans to maintain its focus on structured transportation services for business, group, and private travel.
