

Marshall Pediatric Therapy - Richmond Expands Occupational Therapy Services to Support Growing Demand for Child Development Resources

February 04, 2026

RICHMOND, KY - February 04, 2026 -
Marshall Pediatric Therapy - Richmond has expanded its occupational therapy services to meet increasing demand from families throughout Madison County and Central Kentucky seeking comprehensive developmental support for their children. The expansion enhances the clinic's capacity to serve children with fine motor skill challenges, sensory processing differences, and daily living skill needs.

The Richmond-based pediatric therapy clinic has strengthened its occupational therapy department with additional resources and specialized programming designed to help children achieve greater independence in daily activities. The expansion addresses the growing need for pediatric therapy services in Central Kentucky, where families often face extended wait times for specialized developmental support.

"We recognized that families in our community needed more accessible occupational therapy services, particularly for children with sensory processing challenges and developmental delays," said Robin Stepp,

Clinical Director at Marshall Pediatric Therapy - Richmond. "This expansion allows us to reduce wait times and provide more comprehensive support to help children develop the skills they need for success in school, at home, and in their communities."

Occupational therapy at Marshall Pediatric Therapy focuses on building essential life skills through play-based interventions and evidence-based techniques. Therapists work with children to develop fine motor skills necessary for writing, dressing, and feeding, while also addressing sensory integration needs that can impact a child's ability to participate in daily activities. The therapy team creates individualized treatment plans that consider each child's unique strengths and challenges.

The expanded services complement the clinic's existing comprehensive approach to pediatric care, which includes speech therapy, physical therapy, mental health counseling, and specialized programs. This integrated model allows therapists to collaborate across disciplines, ensuring that children receive coordinated care that addresses all aspects of their development.

Marshall Pediatric Therapy - Richmond pediatric occupational therapy services now include enhanced sensory integration strategies, advanced fine motor skill development programs, and specialized support for children with autism spectrum disorder and other developmental conditions. The clinic's occupational therapists utilize the latest therapeutic techniques and equipment to create engaging, effective treatment sessions that motivate children while building critical skills.

The expansion comes at a time when pediatric therapy services are increasingly recognized as essential for early intervention and long-term developmental success. Research continues to demonstrate that early occupational therapy intervention can significantly improve outcomes for children with developmental delays, sensory processing disorders, and other challenges affecting daily functioning.

Marshall Pediatric Therapy has served families throughout Madison County and Central Kentucky with comprehensive pediatric therapy services. The clinic specializes in helping children thrive physically, emotionally, socially, and developmentally through a range of therapeutic interventions including speech therapy, occupational therapy, physical therapy, mental health counseling, intensive therapy programs, psychological services, the Building Blocks Program, behavior supports, and specialty services. The Richmond location continues to focus on providing family-centered care that supports both children and their caregivers in achieving developmental goals.
