PSS International Removals, a Birmingham-based international relocation specialist, has expanded its service offerings to Abu Dhabi and other Emirates in response to significantly increased demand from UK residents relocating to the United Arab Emirates.

The company has extended both the frequency and scope of its removal services to the UAE, introducing additional shipping routes and enhanced container options to accommodate the growing number of British expatriates choosing to relocate to cities beyond Dubai. The expansion includes comprehensive full container and shared container services, alongside specialized air and sea freight options for smaller shipments.

"The migration patterns from the UK to the United Arab Emirates have shifted notably over the past two years," said Liam Witham, speaking for PSS International Removals. "While Dubai remains a primary destination, we're seeing remarkable growth in relocations to Abu Dhabi and other Emirates. This expansion of our services reflects our commitment to meeting this evolving demand with reliable, professional removal solutions."

The enhanced service portfolio encompasses international removals, shipping services, box and baggage transportation, and specialized vehicle shipping for luxury cars. The company provides both air and sea freight options, allowing customers to select services based on their timeline and budget requirements. Full container services offer dedicated space for larger household moves, while shared container options provide cost-effective solutions for smaller relocations.

PSS International Removals has established regular shipping schedules to major cities across the UAE, streamlining the relocation process for families and individuals. The company manages all aspects of international moves, including packing, transportation, customs documentation, and delivery to final destinations. Their services extend to specialized requirements such as luxury vehicle transportation, which has become increasingly requested for relocations to the Emirates.

The expansion comes as recent data indicates a substantial increase in UK nationals seeking residence in the United Arab Emirates, attracted by career opportunities, lifestyle benefits, and the region's growing international business environment. Cities like Abu Dhabi have emerged as particularly attractive destinations, offering a blend of cultural experiences, modern infrastructure, and expanding professional sectors.

Customer feedback has highlighted the importance of reliable international removal services for successful relocations. Recent client Chinye Ukwu noted the company's professional approach and efficiency in preparing household items for shipping to the UAE, while another customer, Heid Meyer, praised the comprehensive support provided throughout the entire relocation process.

PSS International Removals maintains operations from its Birmingham headquarters, serving customers throughout the United Kingdom. The company specializes in international relocations to destinations across Asia, the Middle East, North America, Europe, and Oceania. Their services include comprehensive migration support, customs documentation assistance, shipment protection valuation, and currency exchange services. The company has developed expertise in navigating the complex logistics of international moves, providing customers with streamlined solutions for relocating to new countries.
