Dental implant specialists throughout the San Francisco Bay Area have joined together to provide leading edge dental implant treatment to residents.

The Dental Specialist Network recently expanded operations and opened its doors to patients in San Francisco, California. The Network is comprised of premier specialists, located across the Bay Area, who provide expert care to people in need of dental implants. Unlike other dental implant super centers, the Dental Specialist Network doctors are local specialists, often located closer to patients, who focus on those suffering with missing and failing teeth.

Because the doctors are specialists, they can accept medical insurance as partial payment toward treatment. Warranties are offered to ensure patients receive the best possible care. Free scheduled maintenance plans are also included.

This combination of benefits provides a unique patient experience, one that Bay Area residents will appreciate. "I'm so glad I found the Dental Specialist Network. They treated me like family. I knew I was in good hands the moment I stepped into the office," says patient, Rene.

The Dental Specialist Network doctors do more implant dentistry in one month than most traditional dentists do in an entire year. They specialize in implant treatment now considered the gold standard of care. Dr. Andrew Ferrier, a Bay Area prosthodontist participating in the network, says he sees so many patients in need of a new smile and a renewed life. "It is very rewarding to treat patients who are dental cripples. In just one day, we can give patients dental implants and a beautiful new smile which opens up opportunities in the workplace and social settings."

Those interested in learning more about the Dental Specialist Network and dental implant services offered can find more at the company's official website. Providers and patients may also contact the Network through its dedicated call center at 800-297-2700.
