SCOTTSDALE, AZ - June 02, 2026 -
The Law Office of Libby Banks, PLLC has expanded its business formation services to address the growing needs of entrepreneurs and small business owners in the Phoenix metropolitan area. The firm, traditionally known for its estate planning expertise, now provides comprehensive LLC formation and business structuring services alongside its established trust and estate practice.

The expansion comes as Phoenix continues to experience significant small business growth, with entrepreneurs increasingly seeking legal guidance to properly structure their ventures while protecting personal assets. The firm's integrated approach combines business formation with estate planning considerations, helping business owners establish proper legal structures from inception.

"Business owners often overlook the critical connection between their business structure and estate planning needs," said Libby Banks, founder and principal attorney at The Law Office of Libby Banks, PLLC. "By offering both services, we help entrepreneurs protect their business assets while ensuring their personal estate plans properly account for their business interests. This comprehensive approach prevents common pitfalls that can expose owners to unnecessary liability or create complications during estate administration."

As a business formation law firm in Phoenix, The Law Office of Libby Banks, PLLC assists clients with LLC formation, corporate structuring, and ongoing compliance requirements. The firm emphasizes the importance of maintaining proper corporate records and following formalities to preserve liability protection. This expanded service area complements the firm's established practice in estate planning, trust creation, and probate matters.

The firm's estate planning attorneys work closely with business owners to ensure their corporate entities are properly integrated into their overall estate plans. This includes addressing succession planning, buy-sell agreements, and strategies to minimize tax implications upon transfer of business interests. The firm also assists with creating trusts specifically designed to hold business assets, providing additional layers of protection and planning flexibility.

Recent demographic shifts in Arizona have contributed to increased demand for both business formation and estate planning services. The state's growing population of entrepreneurs and retirees has created unique planning challenges that require coordinated legal strategies. The firm addresses these needs through educational seminars and consultations that help clients understand the intersection of business and estate planning law.

The Law Office of Libby Banks, PLLC also provides services including revocable living trust creation, last will and testament preparation, living will preparation, asset protection strategies, and probate administration.
