March 09, 2026 -
Quality Pro Painting, a Northwest Arkansas painting contractor serving the region since 2017, has expanded its interior painting services to address increased demand for specialized finishes and traditional techniques throughout Bentonville, Rogers, Fayetteville, and surrounding communities.

The Springdale-based company has enhanced its service offerings to include both modern interior painting techniques and traditional lime washing applications, responding to homeowner preferences for diverse aesthetic options in residential properties across the region.

"We've seen significant growth in requests for specialized interior finishes over the past year," said Obed Posadas, owner of Quality Pro Painting. "Homeowners are looking beyond standard paint applications and exploring options like lime washing for texture and depth, particularly in living spaces where they want to create unique visual appeal."

The expansion comes as Northwest Arkansas experiences continued residential growth, with new construction and renovation projects driving demand for professional painting services. The company's enhanced capabilities now encompass comprehensive wall painting, trim and molding work, ceiling treatments, and specialized finishes for kitchens and bathrooms.

Quality Pro Painting Interior Painting services have been structured to address the specific needs of Northwest Arkansas homes, where varying architectural styles from traditional to contemporary require different approaches and expertise. The company's team undergoes regular training on the latest application techniques and product innovations to ensure consistent results across all project types.

"The resurgence of traditional painting techniques like lime washing demonstrates how homeowners are thinking differently about their interior spaces," noted Posadas. "These finishes offer durability alongside aesthetic appeal, making them practical choices for busy households."

The company maintains full insurance coverage and employs experienced painters trained in both conventional and specialty application methods. Each project begins with a detailed consultation to determine the most appropriate products and techniques for the specific space and desired outcome.

Lime washing, a traditional European technique experiencing renewed popularity in American homes, represents one of the specialized services now offered. Quality Pro Painting Lime washing applications create a distinctive matte finish with subtle color variations that add character and dimension to interior walls. This technique has proven particularly popular in Bentonville's historic districts and newer developments seeking authentic architectural details.

As part of its expanded service portfolio, Quality Pro Painting has invested in equipment and training specific to various paint types and application methods. This includes specialized tools for achieving consistent lime wash effects and precision equipment for detailed trim work.

Quality Pro Painting has operated as a locally owned business in Northwest Arkansas since 2017, providing residential and commercial painting services throughout the region. The company specializes in interior and exterior painting, deck and fence staining, and specialty finishes. Based in Springdale, the company serves Bentonville, Rogers, Fayetteville, Bella Vista, and surrounding communities with a focus on quality workmanship and customer satisfaction.
