

USA Cabinet Store LLC Expands Kitchen Remodeling Services in Howard County Amid Competitive 2026 Housing Market

February 10, 2026

Columbia, MD - February 10, 2026 -
USA Cabinet Store LLC has expanded its kitchen remodeling services to meet growing demand from Howard County homeowners who are choosing renovation over relocation in the competitive 2026 housing market. According to January 2026 Zillow data, Columbia median home prices reached $515,000 and Howard County reached $597,000, representing year-over-year increases of 4.6% and 7.2% respectively. These market conditions have prompted homeowners to invest in kitchen upgrades to maximize both livability and property value.

"More Howard County homeowners are choosing to invest in their current properties rather than competing in today's seller's market," said Emin Halac, President of USA Cabinet Store. "With mortgage rates stabilizing in the low-6% range and home prices continuing to rise, kitchen renovation has become a practical alternative to buying. Our design team focuses on the transitional and timeless styles that 72% of homeowners now prefer, according to industry surveys, using natural materials like white oak and quartzite that complement Columbia's established neighborhoods."

The trend toward renovation over relocation is consistent with findings in the NKBA 2026 Kitchen Trends Report, which notes that 76% of design professionals expect kitchen footprints to increase over the next three years. In Howard County, where housing inventory remains at 1.1 months of supply and homes receive an average of three offers, kitchen remodeling services have emerged as an alternative to competing in the buying market.

The NKBA report identifies Generation X and Baby Boomers as driving 67% of kitchen remodeling projects nationally?demographics well represented in Howard County. These homeowners increasingly seek wellness-focused features, concealed storage, and panel-ready appliances. According to the NAR/NARI 2025 Remodeling Impact Report, kitchen renovations recover approximately 60% of costs at resale and receive the highest possible homeowner satisfaction rating.

Maryland's housing market forecast, per the Maryland Association of Realtors, predicts continued price appreciation of 2-4% through 2026, with the Baltimore area median sales price expected to reach $412,110. This creates a two-speed market dynamic where move-in-ready homes sell quickly while dated properties face longer market times and potential price reductions, making kitchen upgrades strategic for future resale value.
