Born To Move Movers Receives High Praise from Massachusetts Customers Following Surge in Verified Five-Star Reviews

February 10, 2026

NEWTON, MA - February 10, 2026 -
Born To Move Movers, a licensed and insured relocation company based in Newton, Massachusetts, has recorded a significant rise in five-star customer reviews across major online platforms. The company?s recent feedback highlights growing public recognition for consistency, reliability, and clear communication throughout the moving process across Newton, Boston, Cambridge, Brookline, and Waltham.

The reviews reflect the company?s structured approach to service delivery and training. All moves are carried out by in-house teams who complete a detailed preparation process before each project. The company reports increased client referrals over the past year, a trend linked to its focus on transparency and standardized operating procedures.

?Our team treats every relocation as a responsibility, not a transaction,? said Dmitrii Malashkin, owner of Born To Move Movers. ?We train our staff to plan carefully, communicate clearly, and follow through on what we promise. The feedback we receive shows that steady, predictable service matters more to customers than anything else.?

Customers posting public reviews describe the company?s work as efficient and respectful. One reviewer, Eric Aho, wrote, ?Kenis and Miguel are five-star professionals. They are fast and attentive to all our needs for the move. Everyone is pleased.? Another customer, Charlie L., said, ?The crew we had was the best. They made our move so easy. Thank you for excellent service.?

Other clients cited professionalism and care during complex or emotional moves. Mary Shea, who used the company for an interstate relocation, commented, ?Considerate, professional, and patient, especially while dealing with many family emotions due to a loss of our beloved matriarch.? John Moon added, ?Polite and careful with furniture and other sensitive things.?

Accuracy and transparency in pricing are recurring themes across the reviews. Kate Montanile Brosnihan noted that ?Booking was simple, their estimate was spot on, and communication was great. We had heavy pieces that needed to go upstairs, and they handled everything carefully without damage.?

Reviewers also mention that the company remains flexible under tight schedules. Swami Ganesh described his experience by stating, ?Great job by Kenis and the crew. Very efficient. Finished the job in less than four hours. Courteous. Will recommend them without hesitation.?

The company attributes these outcomes to a systematic process that emphasizes direct oversight rather than outsourcing. Each team member is an employee who undergoes training in equipment use, item protection, and customer coordination. Trucks are equipped with protective blankets, straps, and dollies to prevent property damage, and all projects are fully insured.

According to Malashkin, maintaining consistency has been key to customer satisfaction. ?The structure we use allows us to control quality from start to finish,? he said. ?We rely on our own trained staff because that?s how we keep service levels uniform. When people hire Born To Move Movers, they know the same procedures apply whether it?s a local apartment move or a long-distance relocation.?

In addition to residential projects, the company continues to complete commercial, laboratory, and specialty assignments throughout Massachusetts. Its staff regularly assists with the transport of pianos, antiques, and large appliances, and coordinates office relocations. Several business clients have commended the crews for meeting building requirements and adhering to delivery timelines.

The organization has also maintained compliance with all federal and state regulations governing household goods carriers. Certificates of Insurance are available for property managers and corporate clients. Repeat customers have cited this focus on accountability as a reason for choosing the company for multiple relocations.

Independent reviewers across Greater Boston describe the moving process as punctual, well-organized, and free from hidden charges. Many customers highlight that estimates are detailed and consistent with final costs, an area that has traditionally caused concern in the moving industry.

Industry observers note that the growing number of verified positive reviews places Born To Move Movers among a small group of local carriers receiving consistently high satisfaction ratings. The company?s continued emphasis on communication, accuracy, and staff development has contributed to a steady flow of customer referrals, reinforcing its position as a trusted regional provider.

Reflecting on the company?s progress, Malashkin added, ?Our goal has always been to maintain reliability at scale. As demand grows, our challenge is to keep every move as well-planned and carefully executed as the first one we ever completed.?

Born To Move Movers continues to serve residential and business clients throughout Massachusetts and neighboring states. Its service model prioritizes preparation, safety, and transparency while maintaining a focus on long-term customer relationships.
