

Rigert Treppenlifte AG Expands Barrier-Free Home Adaptation Services Across Central Switzerland

February 11, 2026

Küssnacht am Rigi, SZ - February 11, 2026 -
Rigert Treppenlifte AG, a leading provider of mobility solutions with over 60 years of experience, has announced expanded accessibility services throughout German, French, and Italian-speaking regions of Switzerland to meet growing demand for home adaptation solutions among seniors and individuals with mobility challenges.

The Küssnacht-based company, part of the Garaventa Group, has strengthened its presence across central Switzerland with comprehensive lift solutions including stairlifts, platform lifts, wheelchair lifts, and customized home accessibility systems. This expansion responds to Switzerland's aging population and increasing need for barrier-free living environments that allow individuals to maintain independence in their homes. The company notes that with Switzerland's demographic shift toward an aging society, the demand for professional home adaptation has increased significantly. They aim to create expanded services across all linguistic regions ensure that every Swiss resident has access to quality mobility solutions, regardless of their location or language preference.

The company's comprehensive approach includes initial consultation, project planning, professional installation, and ongoing maintenance services. Rigert Treppenlifte AG employs its own certified technicians to ensure proper installation and safety compliance across all projects. The company's stairlift systems can be installed on existing stairs without major renovations, providing practical solutions for both indoor and outdoor applications.

Beyond residential installations, Rigert Treppenlifte AG has established partnerships with healthcare facilities and senior living communities throughout Switzerland. These collaborations focus on creating accessible environments that meet both individual resident needs and institutional safety requirements. The company's platform lifts and wheelchair lifts have become essential components in public buildings, offices, and care facilities across the region.

The expansion includes enhanced service coverage in key Swiss cities including Zurich, Lucerne, and Interlaken, where tourism and public accessibility initiatives have created additional demand for professional lift solutions. The company's mobility services extend beyond permanent installations to include portable stair crawlers and temporary accessibility solutions for events and short-term needs.
