February 18, 2026

GLENDALE, CA - February 18, 2026 -
Big Ben Lawyers, a Southern California personal injury firm, has expanded its legal resources and case documentation to address the growing complexity of commercial vehicle accidents, particularly those involving major logistics companies and their third-party contractor networks.

The firm, founded by Benjamin Charchian, has developed comprehensive guides that detail the intricate liability structures present in commercial trucking accidents. These resources explain how responsibility extends beyond individual drivers to include contractors, corporate entities, and multiple insurance layers that victims may not initially recognize as liable parties.

"When a commercial truck accident occurs, victims often face a maze of corporate structures and contractor relationships that can obscure who is truly responsible," said Benjamin Charchian, founder of Big Ben Lawyers. "Our approach involves pursuing every potentially liable party, from individual drivers to parent corporations, ensuring that injured clients have access to all available insurance coverage and compensation sources."

The expansion of resources comes as commercial vehicle accidents continue to represent some of the most catastrophic injury cases in California. Federal data shows that large truck crashes result in approximately 5,000 fatalities and 150,000 injuries annually across the United States, with California consistently ranking among the states with the highest number of truck accident fatalities.

Big Ben Lawyers has handled numerous cases involving severe injuries from commercial vehicle collisions, including those resulting in paralysis and long-term disability. The firm's approach emphasizes thorough investigation of corporate ownership structures, contractor agreements, and insurance policies that may provide compensation for victims. This methodology has proven particularly effective in cases where trucks are owned by third-party contractors rather than the companies whose logos appear on the vehicles.

The firm's experience extends to representing clients who have been injured by vehicles operated as part of major logistics networks. In these cases, determining liability requires understanding the relationship between independent contractors and corporate entities, as well as identifying all applicable insurance policies. Big Ben Lawyers has recovered substantial settlements in trucking cases by pursuing claims against multiple defendants and insurance carriers.

For those seeking the best car accident lawyer for complex commercial vehicle cases, the firm's combination of trucking industry knowledge and trial experience provides a comprehensive approach to injury claims. The team's understanding of commercial trucking regulations, contractor relationships, and corporate liability structures enables them to identify compensation sources that might otherwise be overlooked.

Client outcomes have included resolution of medical bills, recovery of lost wages, and compensation for long-term care needs. The firm operates on a contingency fee basis, meaning clients pay no attorney fees unless compensation is recovered.

As an amazon truck accident lawyer resource, the firm has also developed specific expertise in accidents involving delivery vehicles and the unique liability questions these cases present. The proliferation of delivery services has created new challenges in determining responsibility when accidents occur.

Big Ben Lawyers maintains offices throughout Southern California, including locations in Glendale, Fresno, Ontario, Riverside, Sacramento, and San Bernardino. The firm handles a comprehensive range of personal injury matters beyond trucking accidents, including motorcycle accidents, pedestrian injuries, wrongful death claims, and workplace injuries.
