

TheVoIPHub Releases Review Of Magic Jack Services

April 04, 2016

April 04, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Gunnison, Colorado based TheVoIPHub has announced the release of its review of Magic Jack services. The company provides information and reviews of various VoIP services, and this is one of a number of reviews that are currently available on their site. The newest review, offering information about Magic Jack, is now live on the company's website.

Mr. J.L. Chettle, President and CEO of TheVoIPHub, says, "Our goal is to help people make sound decisions when it comes to VoIP. Whether or not they choose to take this route, it's always important to have the most comprehensive information available, and that's what we provide."

The review, offered at www.thevoiphub.com, gives details about Magic Jack that are designed to help readers determine whether or not this is a good fit for their needs. It gives an overview of the service, stating that it is a fully featured phone service provided by VocalTec Communications LTD, which has been in operations for nearly 10 years. The review also gives an overview of VocalTec, and their mission statement.

Also included in the review is a refresher on what VoIP or Voice over Internet Protocol is, and why it can be advantageous to consumers and businesses. TheVoIPHub, which can be found on Google Plus, offers insights into this protocol, including the benefits of choosing this over other services.

In the Magic Jack review, the company observes that the Magic Jack service is low in cost, provided users choose certain packages, and that it can come with up to a year of free service depending on the specific package chosen. The review offers information related to the packages, the service itself, and how it can help consumers and companies to lower their phone bills and enjoy clearer communication.

TheVoIPHub also provides reviews on other services, as well as general information for those who are completely new to Voice over Internet Protocol. Those interested in reading the review in its entirety can do so on the company's official website, and find other information related to similar services. Interested readers can also learn more about this and other services by reading the company's official blog.
