SAN JOSE, CA - February 18, 2026 -
Royal Pools by Adams, a Northern California swimming pool contractor with over five decades of experience, has enhanced its residential pool construction capabilities through the implementation of advanced 3D modeling technology and expanded material options, responding to evolving homeowner preferences across the San Francisco Bay Area.

The company's strengthened position in the residential pool construction market comes as demand for custom pool installations continues to grow throughout Northern California. The enhanced design capabilities allow homeowners to visualize their pool projects with unprecedented accuracy during the planning phase, while new material selections provide greater customization options for both new installations and resurfacing projects.

"The integration of advanced 3D modeling technology represents a significant evolution in how we approach residential pool design," said Ray Langford, Marketing Director at Royal Pools by Adams. "This technology enables our clients to see exactly how their custom pool will look and function within their specific property layout before construction begins, eliminating uncertainty and ensuring complete satisfaction with the final result."

The timing of these enhancements coincides with continued growth in Northern California's residential development sector, where swimming pool installations remain a priority for homeowners seeking to enhance outdoor living spaces and increase property values. Industry data indicates sustained demand for custom pool construction as homeowners invest in comprehensive backyard transformations that extend their living areas outdoors.

Royal Pools by Adams has also expanded its pool resurfacing division to better serve existing pool owners throughout the region. The resurfacing services utilize advanced surface materials and application techniques designed to extend pool lifespan while reducing long-term maintenance requirements. This expansion addresses the substantial number of aging pools throughout Northern California that require professional restoration.

The company maintains membership in both the California Pool & Spa Association and the Pool & Hot Tub Alliance, ensuring all projects meet current industry standards and safety regulations. A comprehensive showroom featuring material samples, equipment displays, and design examples assists homeowners throughout the planning process, providing tangible resources for informed decision-making.

As part of the Adams Pool Solutions family, the contractor brings institutional knowledge gained through thousands of successful installations across diverse property types and architectural styles. This experience proves particularly valuable when addressing the unique challenges presented by Bay Area properties, including hillside installations, limited access sites, and projects requiring specialized engineering solutions.

The enhanced design capabilities and expanded service offerings position the company to meet increasing demand while maintaining the quality standards that have defined its operations for more than fifty years. With residential development continuing throughout Northern California and existing homeowners pursuing outdoor living improvements, the pool construction industry anticipates sustained growth through the coming years.

Royal Pools by Adams operates throughout the San Francisco Bay Area, providing comprehensive pool construction and resurfacing services for residential and commercial clients. The company combines traditional craftsmanship with modern technology to deliver custom aquatic installations that enhance properties and support the lifestyle goals of Northern California homeowners.
