

In Stock Today Cabinets Expands Fairfax Showroom Amid Rising Wholesale Kitchen Cabinet Demand

February 21, 2026

Fairfax, VA - February 21, 2026 -
In Stock Today Cabinets has relocated its Fairfax, Virginia showroom to a larger facility within the same building complex, moving from Unit B to Unit A at 2817 Dorr Avenue, in response to increased demand for wholesale kitchen cabinets from contractors and homeowners throughout Northern Virginia.

The expansion coincides with notable growth in the Northern Virginia housing market. Fairfax County home sales are projected to rise 8.4 percent in 2026, according to the 2026 Housing Forecast published jointly by the Northern Virginia Association of Realtors and George Mason University. The median home price in the region has reached $720,000?a 10.4 percent year-over-year increase as of January 2026, per Redfin market data?contributing to increased renovation activity in kitchens and bathrooms.

The demand for cabinet supply and installation support comes as the broader construction industry faces a projected shortage of more than 439,000 workers nationally in 2025, according to the Associated Builders and Contractors, placing added pressure on contractors to consolidate material sourcing and reduce project lead times.

The new showroom offers expanded display space for the company?s Fabuwood and FIBO cabinetry lines, including Shaker, Allure, Quest, and Value Premium collections. The larger facility allows contractors, builders, and homeowners to view available cabinet options in both ready-to-assemble and pre-assembled configurations.

"The decision to expand our Fairfax location reflects the growth we're seeing in the Northern Virginia construction and renovation market," said Emin Halac, CEO of In Stock Today Cabinets. "With kitchen remodels in our region averaging $75,000 and cabinets representing up to 35 percent of that budget, contractors are looking for suppliers who can deliver wholesale cabinets on a consistent schedule. Our new space allows us to meet that demand while maintaining five- to seven-day delivery on Fabuwood lines."

The company has also updated its IST Loyalty Rewards Program, which offers contractors automatic rebates of $100 for every $5,000 in purchases?a two percent return with no membership fees. Program details are available at istcabinets.com.

The expanded Fairfax location joins the company?s Alexandria showroom at 5731 General Washington Drive in serving the greater Washington, D.C. metropolitan area. Both locations offer in-store design consultations and project quotes, with pricing structures available for contractors, builders, and dealer accounts.

In Stock Today Cabinets is an authorized distributor for Fabuwood and FIBO. The company maintains showrooms in Virginia, Maryland, Texas, and Delaware. Fabuwood products carry lifetime limited warranties.

The Fairfax expansion extends the company's presence in Northern Virginia, where it serves communities including Arlington, Burke, Merrifield, Alexandria, Fairfax Station, McLean, Tysons, Vienna, and Falls Church. Product catalogs and installation guides are available for download on the company's website.
