The expansion focuses on handcrafted outdoor structures that combine durability with aesthetic appeal, providing homeowners with tailored solutions for their specific outdoor environments. Each structure is designed and built to complement existing landscape features while adding functional shade and architectural interest to residential properties.

"The demand for quality outdoor living spaces has increased significantly as homeowners recognize the value these structures add to their properties," said Logan Keathley, owner of Keathley Landscaping and NDS Certified Drainage Contractor. "Our expanded services allow us to create custom patio covers and pergolas that not only provide comfort and shade but also serve as centerpieces for outdoor entertaining and relaxation."

Each project begins with expert consultation to determine the optimal design, materials, and placement for maximum functionality and visual impact.

Keathley Landscaping's approach emphasizes customization and craftsmanship in every project.
