

Keathley Landscaping Expands Custom Covered Patios and Pergolas Construction Services

March 24, 2026

GARLAND, TX - March 24, 2026 -
Keathley Landscaping has expanded its custom covered patio and pergola construction services to meet growing demand for enhanced outdoor living spaces across Allen and the greater Dallas area. The expansion enables the company to serve more homeowners seeking to transform their backyards into comfortable, year-round retreats.

The Dallas-based landscaping company, which has operated since 2002, specializes in designing and building custom patio covers and pergolas that add comfort, value and enjoyment to backyard living. Each project is individually designed to complement the existing architecture and landscape while providing functional shade and weather protection for Texas homeowners.

"We're seeing unprecedented interest from homeowners who want to maximize their outdoor spaces and create areas where they can relax and entertain regardless of weather conditions," said Logan Keathley, owner of Keathley Landscaping. "Our expanded services allow us to deliver more custom solutions that transform ordinary backyards into private sanctuaries tailored to each client's specific needs and preferences."

The company's approach to creating allen custom pergolas and covered patios begins with understanding how clients envision using their outdoor areas. Design specialists work closely with homeowners to develop plans that integrate seamlessly with existing landscaping and architectural elements. Each structure is built using premium materials selected for durability and resistance to Texas weather conditions, ensuring longevity and minimal maintenance requirements.

Keathley Landscaping's craftsmen construct each project on-site, allowing for precise customization and adaptation to unique yard configurations. The structures are engineered to provide optimal shade coverage while maintaining aesthetic appeal that enhances property value. Options include traditional wood construction, modern aluminum designs, and hybrid solutions that combine multiple materials for both form and function.

The expansion comes as more homeowners recognize the value of investing in outdoor living improvements. Industry data shows that well-designed outdoor spaces can increase property values while providing immediate lifestyle benefits. Covered patios and pergolas extend the usability of outdoor areas by providing protection from sun and light rain, making backyards comfortable for more months of the year.

"Quality craftsmanship and attention to detail set our work apart," added Keathley. "Every project we complete is built to last, using construction techniques and materials that withstand the test of time and weather. We take pride in creating outdoor spaces that families will enjoy for generations."

Beyond pergolas and patio covers, Keathley Landscaping offers comprehensive outdoor improvement services including landscape design and installation, stonework and retaining walls, outdoor kitchens, firepits, landscape lighting, and drainage solutions. This full-service approach allows homeowners to coordinate multiple improvements for cohesive outdoor transformations.

Keathley Landscaping serves Dallas, Allen, Plano, Garland, Wylie, and surrounding North Texas communities. The company has built its reputation on delivering personalized service, quality construction, and innovative design solutions that enhance outdoor living experiences. Since 2002, the company has completed hundreds of residential projects, establishing itself as a trusted partner for homeowners seeking to improve their outdoor spaces.
