

Amber Quinn Selects Maltepe Dental Clinic for Laminate Veneers

February 27, 2026

ISTANBUL, TR - February 27, 2026 -
Maltepe Dental Clinic, a dental practice with facilities in Istanbul and London, reports a growing number of international patients seeking laminate veneers at its Istanbul location, with patients traveling from more than 85 countries over the past 24 years for cosmetic dental procedures. The trend aligns with Turkey?s broader growth as a medical tourism destination, with the country?s health tourism sector reporting year-over-year increases in international patient arrivals according to Turkish Ministry of Health data.

Among recent patients is Miami-based content creator, social media influencer, and model Amber Quinn, who traveled to Istanbul after experiencing discoloration with composite veneers previously placed at a facility in Colombia. Quinn?s five-day treatment involved replacing the composite restorations with shade 0M2 Emax Veneers using minimally invasive techniques designed to preserve existing tooth structure.

?Compressed treatment timelines are a practical necessity for patients who travel internationally for dental procedures,? said Dr. Alper Gurhan, chief dentist at Maltepe Dental Clinic. ?On-site laboratory capabilities allow us to complete fabrication and application without outsourcing to third-party facilities.?

The clinic?s laminate veneer journey protocol begins with digital consultation prior to arrival, followed by treatment planning and veneer application at its Istanbul location. The in-house laboratory fabricates prosthetics on-site, which the clinic says reduces the number of required patient visits compared to facilities that rely on external laboratories. The clinic reports that this structure is particularly relevant for international patients who must coordinate travel arrangements alongside their treatment schedules.

Quinn documented her treatment on social media during her stay in Istanbul?s Moda neighborhood. The clinic reports that published patient content has coincided with increased inbound inquiries, a pattern consistent with broader research on the role of social media in medical tourism decision-making.

?Beginning treatment planning remotely reduces the time patients need to spend on-site,? noted Dr. Yusuf Ilhan, chief dentist at Maltepe Dental Clinic. ?For patients traveling from other continents, that scheduling efficiency is often a determining factor in selecting a treatment facility.?

The clinic reports that Quinn has scheduled a return visit to accompany her mother for dental treatment. Approximately 30 percent of the clinic?s international patients return with family members for subsequent treatment, according to internal facility records. Cosmetic dentistry accounts for 65 percent of international patient volume, with laminate veneers as the most frequently requested procedure category.

Maltepe Dental Clinic holds ISO certifications 9001:2015, 13485:2016, and 10002:2018, and maintains international health tourism authorization from Turkish health authorities. The facility has published over 300 documented patient case studies across its digital platforms and holds 349 reviews on Google. Primary treatment is conducted at the Istanbul location, with a London facility serving as a consultation and follow-up center for European patients.

Established in 2002, Maltepe Dental Clinic employs dental specialists and laboratory technicians trained in international patient protocols. Its laboratory team works alongside clinicians to produce custom dental prosthetics, including laminate veneers, crowns, and implant-supported restorations.
