

RestoPros of Salt Lake City Achieves IICRC Certification for Advanced Restoration Standards

March 24, 2026

SOUTH JORDAN, UT - March 24, 2026 -
RestoPros of Salt Lake City has achieved certification from the Institute of Inspection Cleaning and Restoration Certification (IICRC), demonstrating the company's commitment to maintaining the highest industry standards in water, fire, and mold restoration services. This certification validates the company's adherence to rigorous technical and ethical standards established by the leading global certification body for the restoration industry.

The IICRC certification represents a significant milestone for the restoration company, which provides 24/7 emergency services throughout Salt Lake City and surrounding communities. The certification process requires extensive training, examination, and demonstration of proficiency in restoration techniques, safety protocols, and industry best practices.

"Achieving IICRC certification reinforces our dedication to providing the highest quality restoration services to our community," said Kevin Holmes, President of RestoPros of Salt Lake City. "This certification assures our clients that our technicians follow proven methodologies and safety standards when responding to water damage, fire damage, or mold remediation emergencies. Every member of our team undergoes continuous training to stay current with evolving industry standards and restoration technologies."

The IICRC sets global standards for the inspection, cleaning, and restoration industries, with certification programs covering water damage restoration, applied structural drying, fire and smoke restoration, and mold remediation. Certified firms must demonstrate ongoing education, maintain proper insurance, and agree to follow a strict code of ethics.

For property owners facing restoration needs, working with an IICRC-certified company provides several advantages. Certified technicians understand the science behind proper drying techniques, preventing secondary damage such as mold growth. They utilize industry-approved equipment and follow standardized protocols that insurance companies recognize and trust. This expertise proves particularly valuable when providing water damage restoration service south jordan residents rely on during emergencies.

RestoPros of Salt Lake City offers comprehensive restoration services including water extraction, structural drying, fire and smoke damage cleanup, mold remediation, and complete rebuild services. The company serves multiple areas throughout the region, including Clearfield, Draper, Herriman, Layton, Ogden, Salt Lake City, South Jordan, and West Valley City.

The certification comes at a time when extreme weather events and aging infrastructure have increased demand for professional restoration services. Property damage from burst pipes, flooding, fires, and storms requires immediate professional intervention to minimize losses and ensure safe, thorough restoration.

Beyond technical expertise, IICRC certification emphasizes ethical business practices and customer service excellence. Certified companies commit to honest communication, fair pricing, and transparent processes throughout restoration projects. This commitment extends to helping property owners navigate insurance claims and documentation requirements.

RestoPros of Salt Lake City combines three decades of industry experience with state-of-the-art restoration technology. The company's rapid response teams deploy advanced moisture detection equipment, industrial drying systems, and specialized cleaning techniques to restore properties to pre-damage conditions. Their comprehensive approach addresses both visible damage and hidden moisture that could lead to structural deterioration or mold growth.

The company maintains 24/7 emergency response capabilities, recognizing that property damage requires immediate attention to prevent escalation. Their IICRC-certified technicians assess damage, develop restoration plans, and coordinate with insurance providers to streamline the recovery process for property owners.
